

SHRIEKING GALE AND GLARE OF FIRE AUGMENT TERRORS OF RESIDENTS OF NOME, BEREFT OF FOOD AND SHELTER

Meat Supply for Winter Burning; Homeless People Face Starvation; Fire Apparatus Destroyed; Most Northerly of Cities Overwhelmed, While Flames Continue the Destruction Begun by Waves; Four Lives Known to Be Lost; Inhabitants Show Courage in Face of Calamity

Nome, Oct. 7.—The storm is abating. Three unidentified bodies have been washed ashore.

Five hundred people are homeless. Help from the outside will be necessary. "Many homes and the business section are gone. Funds are urgently needed. The Nugget will receive contributions until a relief committee is appointed." Richard Hutton, editor of the Nome Nugget, last night sent this telegram to Seattle.

A shrieking gale, carrying with it the ice cold of Behring Sea, has piled the high tide waters deep in Nome streets. The most northerly city in the world, built upon shifting sands, is already partially overwhelmed, and last night the booming surf continued to sweep over further inland.

The red glare of fire, which started in the west end, has added to the terrors of the worst day since prospectors first built their cabins on the long finger of sand which thrusts into the sea on the west side of Snake river.

Five hundred buildings have been demolished. Two miles of territory next to the sea was devastated, the south side of Front street being swept away completely.

In addition to the unidentified dead one life is known lost. Morrison, a miner, who was sleeping in the first building to go, was swept away by the onrushing surf.

The property loss to date is estimated at $2,500,000 and $1,000,000.

In the midst of the gale, driven inland by the raging sea, shivering in the blinding snow and rain, which the blast has brought, in the weird light of the blazing debris, the homeless people of Nome are facing an even worse danger. The winter meat supply is burning.

There is not housing room for the city's refugees. Already suffering is intense.

The gale began Sunday. By evening it threatened the safety of the steamships Victoria, Navajo and Corwin, lying in the roadstead, and these vessels put out to sea to breast the waves away from the danger of reefs and beaches. They are now anchored seven miles out.

Piled high by the terrible wind, the sea commenced to rise across the sandspit where a dozen years ago a population of 20,000 was located. Of late years the spit has lost most of its population, the rich sands being given up to dredging operations.

Early in the night the sandspit was overwhelmed and the wreckage is now blazing. The spit, lying on the east side of the Snake river, is cut off from the town, and the fire apparatus cannot reach it.

It is there that the Pacific Cold Storage plant, containing the winter's supply, is located. Nothing can be done to save it.

Soon the surf swept into the main part of the city. Great seas burst over the bulkheads protecting the property along the beach. Waist-deep in icy seas, blinded by the whirling snow clouds, men and women fought to save what they valued most.

Each wave that battered the rear of Front street blocks gained in force, and the crash of falling buildings mingled with the thunder of the surf. Hammered by the sea, rear and side walls of all business buildings on the seaward side of the street were swept away in a mass of kindling wood.

The Elite baths building was one of the first to go, collapsing into a pile of kindling wood so quickly that persons barely escaped with their lives. The upper side of the street is still safe and there is a chance it will stand.

River street is swept clean of houses. Nothing but battered timbers and burning debris remain on the spot.

The fire house was swept away and the apparatus is now useless. There is no way to handle fire should one break out in the main part of the city.

To-day Front street is a deep torrent of foaming, swirling water, carrying on its current the wreckage of many buildings which is hurled like a battery of rams against the standing property.

Early in the night the plant of the Electric & Power Company was wrecked and the streets were in darkness until a dredge engine was hatched to a dynamo and there was temporary relief.

By means of this light the plucky citizens did much in saving stocks of goods which will be badly needed. Later this light failed, but the work went on in the dark, conducted with the determination of despair.

At the present time the sea reaches westward from the main portion of the city as far as the Discovery saloon. Many buildings on the bluff above River street are toppling into the breakers.

Faced with this calamity born of the sea, the residents of Nome are proving game to the core. Suffering must result for much has been destroyed which was stored for the long winter.

Refugee camps are being organized. There is still opportunity to send south those who cannot winter here, for the vessels which left the roadstead Sunday are standing by at sea, sending their messages of assurance hourly by wireless.

Nome, the famous gold camp on Behring Sea, the most northerly city in the world, was built on a sandy sea beach. In front of the town there is anchorage for ships, but steamers do not make a landing. Cargoes and passengers are landed at an aerial tramway station in deep water.

The principal part of the town is on the east side of Snake river, with a finger extending to the west along a narrow sandspit. This sandspit was rich in gold dust, and the earlier settlers built their cabins there.

Nome has produced more than $35,000,000 in gold dust. Some years the yield has been as high as $3,000,000. This year the production will not be more than $4,000,000, owing to the lack of water.

The summer population of Nome is about 4,000, and in the winter 2,000 remain, the others coming out on steamers that leave late in October.

TARIFF IN NEED OF MODIFICATION

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Acclaimed by Thousands as He Makes Declaration at St. John's

MONEY TIGHT, WAGES LOW, WITH TORIES IN

Wider Markets Absolutely Necessary to a Country Producing Large Wheat Crop

CANADA MUST HAVE OWN NAVAL DEFENCE

St. John's, Que., Oct. 7.—The Liberal demonstration here yesterday afternoon was attended by a trainload of the faithful from Montreal and a great gathering from all parts of the dual constituency of St. John's-Iberville to hear Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Liberal leader's speech was a splendid effort and was cheered to the echo by the thousands present. He declared that the time had come for the government to consider another revision, or, as he put it, a modification of our fiscal policy.

Sir Wilfrid said there must be more bars thrown down on the Canadian side before the tariff would be satisfactory to the people. A country capable of producing 200,000,000 bushels of wheat must, in his opinion, have a wider market, and although he would not attack the present government, he wanted them to think over the matter and he would judge them on the result of their labors.

The leader of the opposition intimated that the change of government had made money tighter, harder to get, wages lower and real estate more of a drug on the market, and this appeared to be the general opinion of his audience.

When the train arrived at St. John's a large crowd greeted Sir Wilfrid at the station and Mayor Phipps took an address, welcoming him to the town and thanking him for what he had done for St. John's when he was prime minister. A procession was then formed, after which the meeting was organized at Market Square.

Sir Wilfrid said the people had made a mistake at the last election, and they might err once more, but he did not want the Liberals to lose courage. He compared the situation which existed in the Dominion during his fifteen years tenure of office with that during the past two years. When he took over the reins of power the Dominion was but a simple substantive and when he left the whole face of Canada had been changed, the country was known all over the world, and everyone gazed with pleasure on the bright new star in the firmament.

Speaking to Conservatives present, the speaker said: "Is the country as prosperous, are your lands as valuable, are salaries as high and work as plentiful as when we were in power?"

"The change which the Laurier government brought to this country was almost miraculous, but the Conservatives say it was Providence that did all this. I admit that Providence loved us, but why does Providence do as much for the Borden government?"

The present government, he repeated, has done absolutely nothing yet.

Sir Wilfrid alluded to his trade policy, stating that this country, with its 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, must have wider markets, and this was what he thought in 1911. Everybody wanted better trade relations with the United States, but he said, when Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir John Thompson had been sent upon fruitless missions, when he also had failed at Washington, he made up his mind that he would never go to Washington on a begging errand; that whenever Washington felt disposed to come to us we would treat with them.

Sir Wilfrid claimed that the Borden government had done nothing since they came into power to improve the conditions that existed in the Dominion. In fact, it would take a microscope to find any act on their part in the interest of the people. The government had a surplus of $50,000,000 and yet the cost of living in Canada was never so high as at the present time.

Here he asked the meeting if it was not time to think seriously of effecting a modification of the tariff. He asked the administration to consider this question.

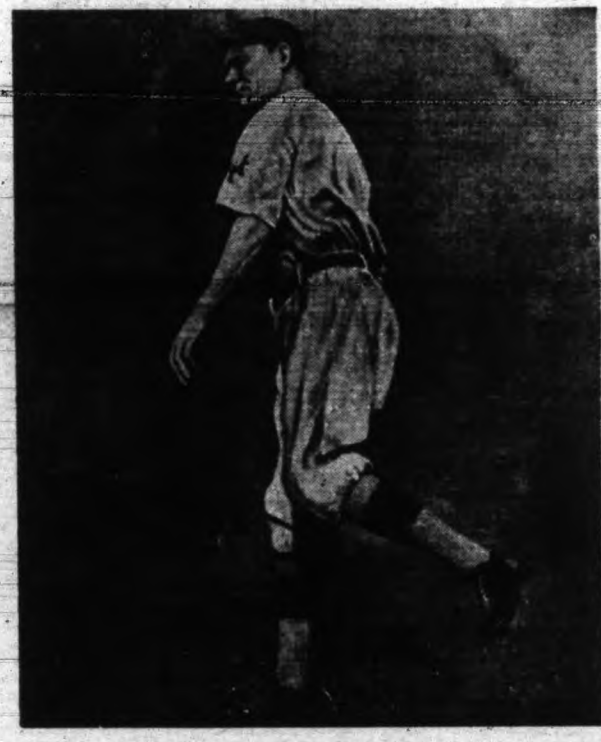

Taking up the naval question, Sir Wilfrid said it had been exploited by his opponents one way in Quebec and another way in the English-speaking provinces by the Imperialists, the Jingoists, the castors and the Nationalists, deciding a great many good people in the provinces. He justified the necessity of a navy, saying there was no country in the world with only 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 people and a great coastline to defend which would not establish a navy for its defence.

FIREMAN DIES IN WRECK.
Emerson, Man., Oct. 7.—Northern Pacific passenger train No. 12, northbound for Winnipeg, was wrecked last night near Letellier, Man. One fireman was killed.

PITCHERS OF OPPOSING TEAMS

"CHIEF" BENDER, OF THE ATHLETICS
Whose splendid work in the box for the Philadelphia team had a large share in winning the first game of the world's series in New York to-day.

"RUBE" MARQUARD, OF THE GIANTS
Who was driven out of the box in the fourth innings by the remarkable hitting of Connie Mack's men. Two other pitchers followed him for New York, Crandall and Tesreau.

ULSTER FIGHT IS NOT VIEWED WITH SAME TOLERANCE IN THE DOMINIONS

Canadian Secret Service Men Watch for Conspirators in Toronto and Winnipeg; Attention of Australian Parliament Drawn to "Seditious and Disloyal" Message

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The Evening Free Press declares that, under instructions from the government, the secret service agents attached to the Dominion police are watching the development of the Ulster movement in several Canadian cities, notably in Toronto and Winnipeg. Any attempt in Canada to aid the proposed Carson uprising will, it declares, likely land the Dominion conspirators in the criminal court, and possibly in the penitentiary for long term sentences. The Free Press publishes the following:

"The government is much concerned over reports that in several points in Canada, money is being raised to aid the rebellious movement in the north-east of Ireland, and that there is a likelihood of Canadians being quietly enlisted and sent forward for the Ulster fight. There has even been talk of a Canadian volunteer contingent."

"The government of Canada has determined to stifle such movements at the beginning, and for the purpose of obtaining the earliest information, the Dominion secret service has been put upon watch. The laws are very severe against participating in or aiding such disorders as that proposed by the Ulster volunteers."

"The offence is set down in the criminal code of Canada as treason, with liability to punishment in the form of imprisonment for life."

Melbourne, Oct. 6.—Sam McCaughey, millionaire sheepman, has created a stir in Australian political circles by sending a message to Sir Edward Carson expressing strong approval of the Ulster leader's attitude toward Home Rule.

The matter came up in parliament to-day when Senator Long (Labor) protested against the government not taking any action to acquaint the imperial authorities with what he called McCaughey's "seditious and disloyal message to Sir Edward Carson and the other anarchists in Belfast."

Senator Long said that McCaughey's view was not that held by the parliament of Australia.

London, Oct. 7.—The offer of assistance from the Winnipeg Orangemen to northeast Ulster, which was prominently advertised here, was referred to by Sir Edward Carson in his final speech before leaving Ireland for London.

"The government," he said, "will soon find the quarrel which looks to them in the distance to be a local one, in a comparatively small part of his majesty's dominions, will very soon grow until it permeates every village and hamlet of the whole of the United Kingdom, and proceeds out into the Empire from which from Winnipeg we received an offer of 500 men to come across."

ATHLETICS DEFEAT GIANTS BY SCORE OF SIX TO FOUR

First Game of World Series Witnessed by Forty Thousand People in New York To-day; Bender Lusted Full Game but Giants Used Up Three Pitchers; Baker and Collins the Heroes at the Bat

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 7.—The Philadelphia Athletics overcame the New York Nationals by a score of 6 to 4 in the first game of the world's championship series here to-day. Forty thousand persons saw the battle in which heavy hitting featured.

New York used three pitchers in the box to stop the Athletics' batmen. Bender was hit hard, but outside of the fifth innings managed to keep the Giants' hits scattered.

Baker was again a hero at the bat, driving out three hits, one of which was a terrific home-run drive into the stand which scored Collins ahead of him. The only fielding mis-play was a wide throw by Barry.

The teams will meet at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, to-morrow, weather permitting.

LINE-UP OF THE TEAMS
The line-up of the teams in batting order was as follows:
Philadelphia: E. Murphy, rf; Oldring, lf; Collins, 2b; Baker, 3b; McInnis, 1b; Strunk, cf; Barry, ss; Schang, c; Bender, p.

New York: Shaffer, cf; Doyle, 2b; Fletcher, ss; Burns, lf; Murray, rf; Herzog, 3b; Meyers, c; Merkle, 1b; Marquard, p.

First Inning—Philadelphia.
John Brush, the young son of the late John T. Brush, president of the Giants, threw out the ball and the world's series battle was on.

Murphy flew out to Murray. Murphy smashed the first ball pitched. Marquard shot a strike over Oldring. Oldring singled to right on the second ball pitched between Doyle and Merkle. Marquard tried to catch Oldring at first but could not quite get him. The New York pitcher used plenty of speed and kept the ball around the batter's knees.

Oldring was caught off first by a quick throw by Marquard to Merkle. Collins singled sharply to centre after two strikes had been called on him. The crowd gave Home-Run Baker a big cheer when he came to bat. Baker flew out to Burns. No runs, two hits, no errors.

First Inning—New York.
Bender gained on Shaffer came to bat and shot a wide curve which was close to Shaffer's knees. It was a ball. The next one was a strike. Bender had good speed which was difficult to follow in the dark of the day.

Shaffer flew out to Murphy. Doyle was out on a high fly to Strunk. Fletcher got a single, by Barry for New York's first hit. Fletcher out stealing second, Schang to Collins. Fletcher was caught at least ten feet off the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning—Philadelphia.
Merkle fouled off the first pitched ball. McInnis out, Herzog to Merkle. Strunk fanned, being unable to solve Marquard's puzzling shoots. Barry out Fletcher to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning—New York.
Bender employed a wide shoot and a high fast one. Burns fanned after having three balls and one strike called. Bender shot over two curves on Burns for strikes, sending the New York batsman back to the bench. Herzog out on a grounder to McInnis, who retired the runner at the bag.

Murray singled to left and would have taken second but Oldring's quick fielding and throw drove him back to first. With Meyers at the bat it was Indian against Indian. Meyers flew out to Oldring. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning—Philadelphia.
Schang out on a high one to Burns. The crowd gave the Indian Bender a big hand when he came to the plate. The chief went out, Fletcher to Merkle. Fletcher made a poor throw but Merkle speared the ball. Murphy got a Texas leaguer to centre, which Shaffer could not get near. Murphy was forced to second when Fletcher took Oldring's grounder and touched second base. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning—New York.
Merkle sent up a high foul near the right field stand but neither McInnis nor Murphy could get near it. Merkle got an infield hit which Barry could not field in time to catch the runner. Marquard sacrificed Collins to McInnis. With one man out and a man on second the New York crowd kept up constant cheering. Shaffer out on a fly to Strunk. Merkle scored on Doyle's single to right. The crowd was in a frenzy. Fletcher flew to Murphy. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—Philadelphia.
Collins sent a long drive to the centre field fence for three bases. It was the first ball pitched. With Baker at the bat the Philadelphia fans cheered to the echo. Baker fouled the first ball pitched. Collins scored on Baker's infield hit, which Doyle was barely able to knock down with his glove. McInnis sacrificed, Marquard to Merkle.

Baker was out at third when Marquard speared Strunk's grounder and threw to Herzog. Barry doubled down the left field line, sending Strunk to third. Strunk and Barry scored on Schang's three-bagger. It looked to many as if Shaffer misjudged the ball, he leaped into the air while running backwards, but the ball went through his fingers clear to the centre field fence. Marquard threw out Bender. Three runs, four hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—New York.
Burns doubled along the left field line. Herzog sent the ball toward third, which was fout only by a few inches. Burns was caught out on the line when Bender took Herzog's grounder and tossed to Baker who threw to Collins who returned the ball to Baker for the putout. Herzog went to second on the play. Murray was a strikeout victim, going out on three straight strikes. Meyers grounded out to Oldring. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning—Philadelphia.
Murphy went out hunting, Marquard to Merkle. Marquard took Oldring's bouncer and threw the batter out at first. Marquard became unsteady, and gave three balls to Collins before pitching a strike. Collins walked and stole second. Collins and Baker scored on Baker's home run drive into the right field stands. It was a longer drive than when he made his famous home run two years ago on the polo grounds and tied the score.

Pandemonium broke loose when the ball fell in the right field stand and the Athletics players patted Baker on the back. Hats were thrown into the air and the Athletics threw their hats into the air and cheered. McInnis fled to Fletcher. Two runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning—New York.
Merkle sent a hot liner over second for a single. McCormick batted for Marquard and singled to centre, but Merkle was held at second. Shaffer went out Collins to McInnis. Merkle going to third and McCormick to second. Merkle scored when Barry took Doyle's grounder and threw wild to first. McCormick went to third.

McCormick scored on Fletcher's single which bounced off Bender's leg into right field. Doyle took third on the play. Doyle scored when Baker took Burns' bouncer and threw out Fletcher at second. Collins took the throw. Herzog fled out to Collins. Three runs, three hits, one error.

Sixth Inning—Philadelphia.
Crandall went in the box for New York. Each side had made eight hits. Strunk fled to Shaffer. After having two strikes on Barry, Crandall gave the batter three balls. Barry went out on a long fly to Shaffer. It was very dark and difficult for the batter to follow the course of the ball. Schang flew out to Burns. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning—New York.
Murray out, Collins to McInnis. Meyers out when Bender took Meyers' roller and threw him out at first. Merkle struck at what was apparently a third strike, and Schang dropped the ball. The Giants claim that Schang interfered with Merkle. Merkle ran to first and after getting there a long argument followed. The batter was declared out on strikes by Umpire Kiern. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning—Philadelphia.
Bender fanned. Murphy out, Doyle to Merkle. Crandall's big roundhouse curves seemed to worry the batters. Oldring out on a hard liner to Shaffer. No runs no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning—New York.
Crandall out, Barry to McInnis. Shaffer got his first hit, a liner over second base for a single. Doyle singled to right, Shaffer taking third. It was a bit-and-run play beautifully worked. A double play killed the Giants' chances for scoring. Barry took Fletcher's grounder and tossed to Collins, forcing Doyle. Collins then threw out Fletcher at first. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning—Philadelphia.
Collins beat out a bunt. Neither Crandall nor Merkle reached the ball before Collins had slid into the bag. It was Collins' third hit. Baker singled to left, Collins going to third. Collins scored on McInnis' double to left. Baker was held at third.

The Athletics' cannonading was too much for Crandall and Tesreau went into the box. Strunk fanned on three pitched balls. Baker was caught at the plate when McInnis took third on the play. Barry out on a pop fly to Doyle. One run, three hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning—New York.
Burns out, Baker to McInnis. Herzog out, Collins to McInnis. Murray scratched an infield single. It was now missing. Meyers fled out to Strunk. No runs, one hit, no errors.

TRACING MURDERER OF CHICAGO ART STUDENT

Victim Tortured for Hours Before Kindly Death Came to Her Relief.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—With the finding of an abandoned automobile in Palos Park, the police to-day redoubled their energies in the search for the mysterious "Wilson," whose "telephonic promise of a position drove Miss Ida G. Leegson, an art student, to the prairie near Clearing, where she was strangled to death early Sunday after a terrific struggle. The automobile was stolen before 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon from Jackson park. It was shortly before this hour that "Wilson" telephoned the residence where Miss Leegson roomed.

The toungeau of the automobile recovered in Palos park indicated there had been a violent struggle. Among other articles in it was a piece of shirtwaist. Coroner's Physician Jacob Springer is of the opinion that Miss Leegson was tortured by the man from six o'clock Saturday night until 4 or 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

SISTER OF SIR OLIVER MOWAT.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 7.—Mrs. John Duff, who suffered the loss of a leg in a street car accident yesterday, died during the night. She was about eighty years of age and a sister of the late Sir Oliver Mowat. One sister, Mrs. John Fraser, is the last surviving member of the Mowat family in Kingston.

SPENCER'S CONFESSION IS BEING DISPROVED

Chicago, Oct. 7.—A speedy trial for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat on September 25 was to-day promised Henry Spencer, whose confession of twenty murders woven by an optimum-clouded brain, dumbfounded the police yesterday. The authorities will continue to investigate his fantastic stories in the hope of establishing further facts.

His admission of the Rexroat crime is substantiated. He is known to have committed many of the large number of burglaries he has confessed, and there is a possibility that he may have slain Mrs. Anna Belvight last December.

The metal hatch on top of the big tank has been forced off by the heat from the million-gallon oil tank and the gas vapors coming through the hatch caught fire this morning. This means, officials say, that nothing in the entire plant will be saved.

Only the gasoline tank, a small crude oil tank and a kerosene tank remain to burn. The loss is close to $200,000 now.

CRUDE OIL PLANT

AUSTRALIAN PRESS

Liberal Government Will Remove Restraints on Liberty Imposed by Labor Cabinet

Melbourne, Vic., Oct. 7.—A deputation representing 700 Australian newspapers, 200 of which were Victorian, waited upon Hon. Mr. Kelly, minister for home affairs, with a protest against certain restrictions on newspapers which had been introduced in the commonwealth electoral act at the instance of the late labor government.

The deputation represented that the restrictions prevented free criticism, and that some of the clauses were ambiguous and capable of being put to dangerous uses. They regarded the compulsory signing of editorial articles as objectionable, unnecessary, difficult to carry out, and destructive of the freedom of the press. In the country districts, school teachers, bank managers, and public servants often acted as newspaper correspondents, and having regard to their official positions they could not always sign election reports.

The minister, in the course of his reply, said he had been convinced that the press generally had suffered from certain restrictions, and the government was pledged to abolish these restrictions on the liberty of the press. The requests of the deputation had accordingly the cordial support and sympathy of the present administration.

HUNDRED YEARS OF ANGLO-SAXON PEACE

Preparing Programme for the Celebration and for the Memorial at Westminster

London, Oct. 7.—An important step is to be taken this week by the British committee for the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of peace among the English-speaking people. The committee is to make an appeal to the public for $300,000, and the objects in view were explained to-day by S. H. Ferris, secretary of the committee, who said:

"We are launching our appeal to carry out the British programme for the celebration. This programme, as already issued, includes, first, the erection of a memorial in Westminster Abbey of the centenary of peace; second, the purchase of Sulgrave Manor, Northamptonshire, the ancestral home of the Washington family, and its maintenance as a place of pilgrimage for American visitors to England as a symbol of the kinship of the two peoples; and third, the foundation of a permanent chair of Anglo-American history, to be held in succession by a series of eminent British and American historians, together with an endowment scheme for annual prizes in elementary and secondary schools for essays on topics germane to the object of the celebration."

GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND DUCHESS RETURN

Her Royal Highness Will Accompany the Duke, Her Health Being Restored.

London, Oct. 7.—It is officially stated from Clarence House that the Duchess of Connaught will accompany the Duke of Connaught to Canada when His Royal Highness returns on October 12. The Princess Patricia will also travel with the Duke. The Duchess has made remarkable progress during the past few weeks, and it is confidently hoped that in the near future all the effects of her recent illness will have disappeared. On Sunday the Duke and Duchess and Princess Patricia motored up from Bagshot to Clarence House, where they will be resident until the date of their departure for Canada.

RETIRE FROM BUSINESS.

London, Oct. 7.—John Aird & Company, the famous firm of contractors, will cease to exist after September of next year. All the contracts the firm have on hand will be finished by March next, except one, which will be finished in September. The reasons given are that the firm has done excellently in the past—the father of the present baronet left a fortune of over £1,000,000—and that while the risks attending a contractor's work are as great as ever, the profits are very much smaller than they were twenty or thirty years ago.

OLD TELEGRAPHER DEAD.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 7.—Word has been received of the recent death of Major Welden, of Grenfell, a man closely identified with a dramatic epoch of early days on the prairie. Major Welden died when other members of the household were away, and his death was not discovered until the following day. During the troublesome days of 1885 Major Welden was called upon to assist in the position of telegrapher and chief dispatcher to General Middleton, who was in command of the forces, and in that capacity was at the front all the time.

SECURES HIS LIBERTY.

Blaine, Wash., Oct. 7.—Simon Tompkins, who escaped from the Vancouver, B. C., industrial school, secured his liberty by reaching the American side of the line. When the Vancouver officers arrived in Blaine for him the Blaine authorities refused to give him up on the ground that he was an American citizen. After holding him two days the local officers gave him his freedom and money to get to Ballard, where he says his parents live.

FIRST SNOW ON PRAIRIE.

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—The first snow of the season fell yesterday in many parts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba. With a temperature ranging around the freezing point, no snow is yet reported from Alberta, though the southern part of the province has cloudy weather. Winnipeg and district has also so far escaped, though the weather gives indications of rain or snow soon. Advice from Prince Albert says snow fell, melting as it came, and not interfering with travelling. Regina and Moose Jaw report snow.

FLEEDED BY WIRE-TAPPERS.

New York, Oct. 7.—The police have thrown out a drag-net for wire-tappers who are said to have fledged D. S. Curry, a retired business man from Winnipeg, out of $64,000 on a "sure thing."

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—D. S. Curry, former city comptroller, owns extensive property in this city and is reputed to be the second richest man in the west.

DID NOT KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

Seattle, Oct. 7.—Edward Wager, a boy of 14, was shot and probably fatally wounded by his own gun in the hands of a playmate in a door-yard at 3227 Portland street. Clarence Anderson picked up the gun, thinking it was not loaded and aiming it at the other boy cried: "Look out," then pulled the trigger. A report followed and young Wager fell to the ground, shot through the lungs.

A QUIET WEDDING FOR PRINCE ARTHUR

Few Foreign Royalties Will Attend; Rumor Renewed Prince Will Come to Canada

London, Oct. 7.—Official announcements have been made with regard to the arrangements for the marriage of Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Duchess of Fife.

The Queen and the Princess Royal will support the bride, and the King will give her away. The Duke of Connaught will support the bridegroom.

There will be three processions from St. James' Palace to the Chapel Royal, first of the clergy, second of the bridegroom and his party, and third of the bride and her supporters. The processions will pass through the state apartments down the grand staircase and through the outer court to the Chapel Royal.

The clergy will be the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, Dr. Edward Shepherd, subdeacon of the Chapel Royal and domestic chaplain to Their Majesties. The guests will number about 250. According to present expectations there will be only a few foreign royalties at the wedding.

There will be no wedding breakfast, but the bride and bridegroom may hold an informal reception after the wedding and probably two evening parties will be given at the palace on Monday and Tuesday before the wedding, when the presents will be displayed.

The statement is again made on very good authority that Prince Arthur will soon succeed his father as Governor-General of Canada.

It is stated that when the Duke of Connaught gives up the post he will bring his public career to an end. The appointment of Viceroy of India has been offered to him, but he has declined it, and he is also said to have declined to be the first representative of the King in Ireland under Home Rule. He is 63 years of age, and intends to pass most of his time at Bagshot Park.

WOMEN ARE ANGERED: NO PRAYERS FOR THEM

Interrupt Service in Westminster Abbey With Senseless Iterations and Refuse to Be Silent.

London, Oct. 7.—Because the clergy do not include women in their prayers a party of suffragettes interrupted the morning service at Westminster Abbey on Sunday by chanting a prayer for the women now in prison. The party rose as the Litany was being recited, and ignored a request to desist from singing. At the conclusion the women left the Abbey quietly. Addressing a crowd outside, one of them said:

"This is nothing to what will happen unless women are included in the clergy's prayers."

BRITAIN'S GREAT AIRSHIP.

London, Oct. 7.—A new giant airship, to exceed all others, is planned for construction in England. It will embody the advantages without disadvantages of the Zeppelin, and will have a speed of 60 miles an hour. It will be able to carry more guns and ammunition than any dirigible of equal size.

VANCOUVER'S DOCK.

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—The plant is being gathered together, and the contractors announce that within thirty days work will start on the erection of the Dominion government dock at the east end of Burrard Inlet.

Paid $32 for this medicine + got no cure

$2 spent in Zam-Buk cured her!

IS THIS LIKE YOUR CASE?

Mrs. F. Cervais, of 126 Bleury Street, Montreal, writes:—"My baby girl developed a bad rash on her body and it made her very fretful and ill. She would not take food and seemed very sick indeed. From fifteen pounds, her weight fell away to nine and a half pounds."

"I took her to a doctor who gave me a kind of lotion to use and I used it regularly, but the baby got no relief. The skin disease seemed to get worse and worse all the time we were doctoring for it, so we took the child to a second doctor. He told me to stop nursing the baby, and gave me other advice which I followed, but the skin disease got worse and worse."

"At this time a friend of mine visited us and, having seen the sad plight the baby was in, she said I did not know how to go about this. She took my baby to her home and applied Zam-Buk to its little body. This seemed to give the baby ease right from the first. It cured the sores and began to reduce the inflammation. I went on with the Zam-Buk treatment, and to my delight within one week from first starting with Zam-Buk the child looked like a different baby altogether! Within a month the skin disease was cured completely, the baby's appetite had returned and she was almost back at her normal weight. She now looks like the very picture of health."

"There is another feature of the case. One of the doctors has just sent me in a bill for $55! The treatment I got for that money left the child no better than before it was started. The cost of Zam-Buk treatment, which restored my child to health, was $2!"

"Every mother should know what a splendid healer Zam-Buk is." Zam-Buk is a "short cut" to skin healing. Use it for all skin injuries and diseases, eczema, ulcers, blood poison, etc., and for piles. All drugstores and stores, 50 cents a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations.

PACIFIC FLEETS WILL DICTATE WORLD PEACE

Australia Looks to Canada to Follow Example by Building a Navy

Sydney, N. S. W., Oct. 7.—"It was my privilege to witness yesterday a scene unparalleled in a nation's history, and that was the birth of a fleet signifying that Australia is adopting responsibility for her own defence."

So spoke Lord Denman, governor-general of the Commonwealth, at the banquet of welcome tendered last night to the officers of the new Australian warships, the Australia and Sydney, which arrived here on Sunday amid a public demonstration which has been unequalled in the history of the country.

Lord Denman paid a great tribute to Senator Pearce, former minister of defence in the Labor administration. He considered that Mr. Pearce was deserving of much credit and many thanks for developing his schemes for the defence of Australia in the way he did.

"Australia," said his lordship, "has risen to another height and has made a real and valuable contribution to the naval strength of the empire, which feels exceptionally grateful for what the Commonwealth has done."

"The British authorities have trusted Australia's destinies to Australia and the trust must be honored," said ex-Prime Minister Fisher, on rising to speak. He stated that he had no doubt Australia was marching along lines which others must follow.

"When every Dominion has its own fleet," concluded Mr. Fisher, "the empire will be able to dictate the world's peace."

Rear-admiral Patey was received with many cheers. He said he believed that the Australian scheme was sound and he had therefore special pleasure in accepting the Australian command.

Senator Pearce, ex-minister of defence, under whose care the Australian navy scheme saw most of its development, said he looked to the other Dominions to follow Australia's example. "The star of Australia's destiny has arisen over the Pacific, and small as our voice is, it is now articulate," said he.

"The arrival of the fleet compels the British statesmen to have regard for the problems of the Pacific. The burden of the outer empire is becoming too great for the mother land to bear alone. It is the destiny of all dominions to uphold the trident on the Pacific, and Australia has pointed out to her sister dominions their duties and responsibilities."

"The home-coming of the fleet has created a big impression generally, and it is universally felt now that Australia has assumed the toga of nationhood, and that the fleet unit is a formal notification to the outside world that we have recognized our responsibility, our danger, our duty to ourselves, to the empire and to the cause of civilization."

Premier Cook read the following cable received from Premier Borden, of Canada:

"The government on behalf of the people of Canada tender their congratulations on the occasion of the official reception of the battleship Australia and cruiser Sydney. Be assured that Canada stands shoulder to shoulder with Australia and the other overseas dominions in the firm resolve to safeguard our common heritage."

Premier Cook replied: "Cordial thanks for kind congratulations. Heartily reciprocate the brotherly spirit. We are celebrating to-day the completion of an Australian unit of the empire's peace-compelling navy, gladly sharing the obligations for the defence of the whole of the King's domain. In this spirit we greet our Canadian brethren. May the cement of empire set even more firmly as our navies grow."

NO ABANDONMENT OF EVENT NOT CALLED

Unionist Paper Carries on the Jingo Policy in Regard to Naval Defence.

London, Oct. 7.—The Daily Telegraph, in an article yesterday, says it understands the government has no intention of calling a general imperial conference, and claims that this will be very disappointing to Canada and other overseas dominions.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The cable announcement of the abandonment of a proposed imperial naval conference is not understood in Ottawa, for the reason that the government is not aware that any such gathering was proposed. It is quite true that newspaper rumors had it that such a conference, to be participated in by all the Dominions, was suggested to be held in London next year, and another idea was that a gathering of that character might profitably be held at Vancouver, but official denials have been given to these rumors. The next conference will be held in 1915.

AGED SUITOR SUICIDES.

New York, Oct. 7.—Colonel James E. Tate, 60 years old, formerly worth close to $1,000,000, prominent in Baltimore society and business and a cousin of the late Rear-admiral Schley, committed suicide yesterday in his room in the New Grand hotel in this city. It is said that when he left Baltimore five months ago he confided to friends he would probably wed Miss Hanan, said to be the daughter of a rich shoe manufacturer. He left no letter of explanation or directions as to the disposition of his effects.

"For thirty-five years (and I am now a man over seventy) I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation. No matter what remedy or physicians I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure. About 3 years ago, I read the testimonials of Hon. John Costigan regarding 'Fruit-a-tives' and I decided to give them a trial. I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' ever since. They are the first and only medicine that suits my case. If it were not for 'Fruit-a-tives,' I am satisfied I could not live."

NO CONFERENCE ON HOME RULE MEASURE

Home Secretary Announces
That the Bill Will Proceed
According to Programme

London, Oct. 7.—The government has decided to have nothing to do with Earl Loreburn's suggestion for a Home Rule conference.

The first speech by a cabinet minister since Lord Loreburn made his suggestion was delivered last night, at Pontypool by the Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, secretary of state for home affairs, who declared such a conference could mean only procrastination, when one party gave nothing but a flat refusal to the proposals of the other party.

He further announced that the Home Rule bill would follow the anticipated course in parliament and would become law next session, despite the opposition of the House of Lords. The government, he declared, was determined not to submit either to a notoriety or anarchy.

Premier Asquith yesterday succeeded Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, as minister attendant on the King at Balmoral, and Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, had a conference with the Ulster Unionist leaders, Sir Edward Carson and Frederick E. Smith.

DUBLIN STRIKERS RETURNING TO WORK

There is a Deadlock, However, Between Employers and Those Remaining Out.

Dublin, Ireland, Oct. 7.—The deadlock between the employers and the striking transport workers here is complete and there seems to be no prospect of an immediate settlement of the dispute.

Sir George Ashwith, the official "strikebreaker," and his fellow commissioners of the board of trade, have submitted to both sides a set of proposals to form the basis of direct negotiations between the disputants. These proposals were accepted by the men, but the employers refused to agree.

The report of the commissioners condemns the demand made by the employers that the men shall undertake not to join the Transport Workers' Union, and at the same time condemns sympathetic strikes by other workmen.

In the meantime large numbers of striking laborers have returned to work.

RAILWAY TO CHISANA.

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—W. B. Closs and other directors of the White Pass & Yukon route, returned to-day from an inspection of the company's lines in the north. If they get assistance and assurance of business, the company is prepared to extend its line towards the Chisana district.

MR. DOHERTY'S VISIT.

The Minister of Justice, who arrives here to-day, occupies a position in Parliament different from that of the ordinary cabinet councillor. As chief law officer of the dominion he more closely approximates the status of a non-partisan executive than any of his colleagues. He is less frequently embroiled in the confusion and tactics of party dispute and his defence of the administration of which he is an important member is confined to a judicial presentation of the case, and usually is free from those aggressive interpolations which mark the contributions of the average parliamentarian. His position likewise renders him more or less immune from bitter denunciation, and he has opportunities for discussing questions on a high plane that are denied even the first minister. A Minister of Justice who resorts to vituperative and beggar-my-neighbor rhetoric loses prestige in parliament and country. If the spirit of uncompromising partisanship too strongly impregnates his utterances it creates an uneasy feeling regarding the outcome of those important issues entrusted to his consideration and action.

The present Minister of Justice is a man of ripe legal and judicial experience. He was a conspicuous member of the high court bench of Quebec, and enjoyed the esteem and confidence of the bar of that province. His long career as a lawyer and judge, however, did not make him a slave to technicality and those circumlocutory processes which the lay mind commonly associates with the profession of which he is an ornament. His action in the Thaw case in brushing aside the ingenious quibbles of those energetic and resourceful attorneys attracted to the side of the fugitive by his millions saved Canada from the odious reputation that here as elsewhere money can play ducks and drakes with our laws.

The purpose of the Honorable Mr. Doherty's present tour is mainly to inspect Canadian penitentiaries and familiarize himself with our prison system, its defects and possibilities of improvement. The time has arrived in Canada when our methods in this regard will bear overhauling. Somewhere Mr. Doherty has said that he inclines to the reformatory rather than to the punitive aspect of prison operation. Many states across the line have worked wonders with the inmates of their penitentiaries in giving them a different outlook on life and enabling them to become respectable, law-abiding citizens upon their liberation from confinement. Even malefactors of desperate character, men who in the days of their unrenewedness would not scruple to commit the most serious crimes, virtually have been born again within the environment of a penitentiary and subsequently in the pursuit of useful callings have endeavored to expiate those crimes which made them Ishmaels.

The ancient dogma, "once a criminal always a criminal," has been found to be false. More than that, its acceptance has doomed to destruction many a person whom a little effort along humanitarian lines would have converted into a useful member of society. It is contended by the rigid penitentiaries that it is not the duty of the state to evangelize prisoners but to punish them for violating the law. They overlook the fact, however, that there is first the higher duty to prevent crime, to provide those conditions of moral uplift that diminish crime. Invariably men only become desperate criminals when, after being subjected to the stupid and often brutal conduct of callous, untutored keepers, and upon gaining their freedom that all society is arrayed against them. They could not redeem themselves if they would. Outcasts, they become recklessly denant, and wage a futile criminal war upon the society which spurns them.

It was John Howard who first caused the thinking people of Britain to understand the need of prison reform. Previous to his noble crusade imprisonment meant a living death, a punishment out of all proportion to the enormity of the offence. His work revolutionized penal conditions in the country. Jails and penitentiaries were laid out and conducted with due appreciation of the fact that their inmates were human beings not altogether beyond the pale of consideration or the hope of better days. Other countries followed the lead of Howard, with remarkable results. We confidently hope that one result of Mr. Doherty's trip will be the adoption of reforms in our prison system which will be of practical benefit to the submerged tenth and society generally in consequence.

RUBBING IT IN.

"Cordial thanks for kind congratulations. Heartily reciprocate the brotherly spirit. We are celebrating to-day the completion of an Australian unit of the Empire's peace-compelling navy, gladly sharing the obligations for the defence of the whole of the King's domain. In this spirit we greet our Canadian brothers. May the cement of the Empire set even more firmly as our navies grow."—Premier Cook to Premier Borden.

How Australia likes to rub it in! But her statesmen cannot be blamed. Some of them are not so diplomatic in concealing their contempt as Premier Cook has shown himself to be. They charge that Canada has violated the agreement of 1909 by which she bound herself to adopt a policy similar to that so successfully begun by their country, and that charge is true, thanks to Mr. Borden and his Nationalist allies.

PUBLIC MARKET WILL NOT DO.

A considerable number of correspondents advocate the establishment in Victoria of a public market as a means to the very desirable end of a reduction in the absurdly and unnecessarily high cost of living. But we are doubtful whether the movement will culminate in anything tangible and whether it would achieve the desired result if it were successful. In the first place, we have never had a public market in Victoria worthy of the name, and consequently neither the people having the produce to sell nor the people on the other end having the necessity to buy have acquired the habit of resorting to a place of the kind to meet each other. In the second place, the general use of the telephone, as far as Victoria is concerned at least, has completely upset old established customs, and the housewife orders most of what she requires in her establishment from the family grocer and butcher.

These are the established conditions now, and only something that closely approximates to them will meet the object the advocates of a public market have in view. It is true that in Seattle there are public markets, that they have been well patronized, and that by bringing the buyer and seller into direct communication with each other, a very effective means of regulating prices has been discovered. Why the conditions in Seattle should be materially different from the circumstances in Victoria we do not know. Possibly the difference lies in the fact that the Sound city has just passed through a period of acute depression, that money was scarce, and that necessity compelled some sacrifice of comfort and convenience in order to make ends meet. What we do know is that in other parts of Canada the acute problem which confronts us here has been encountered. Farmers have complained in the press and in their own gatherings of the disparity between what they have received for their products and the prices consumers are compelled to pay for the same, and after a great deal of agitation from both ends the government has taken the matter up and has undertaken to find a remedy for the evil. But, as we understand the case, this remedy is not to take the form of public markets. Every town in the east has a market already. Therefore the government proposes to create something more in harmony with modern conditions, probably depots for distribution in which the producer and the consumer will be brought together, possibly not directly as in a public market, but in such a way as to eliminate the factor which is alleged to have held up both. That is what we should aim at in British Columbia. We believe it is the only thing that will accomplish the desired result.

MR. JACOBS'S REPLY.

Mr. Jacobs has contributed another letter to the press on the subject of the coal mine troubles. He does not attempt to meet the charge that Chinese are being employed in the Cumberland mines in violation of the act, and says it is not his duty to do so. He says there is a lawfully constituted tribunal to deal with "regularly preferred" charges. But it has been publicly charged that such employment is being given and no authoritative denial has been made. Mr. Jacobs calmly rules Parker Williams, M. P. P., out of court because of alleged incendiary speeches, but it does not necessarily follow that the man who makes them is unworthy of belief. He is just as likely to be telling the truth as a man who is prejudiced on the other side. As to the provincial government's responsibility in the first instance, Mr. Jacobs's contention is narrow and absurd. It was the duty of the government as guardian of the public welfare to do its utmost to effect a settlement. It is always the duty of a government to intervene in disputes in connection with public utilities. Had it done so in the original trouble at Cumberland, the unfortunate occurrences at Napalmo, Extension and elsewhere might have been averted. The fact that the federal Industrial Disputes Act was not invoked by the men in no way relieves the government of responsibility.

AUSTRALIA'S UNIT.

"It was my privilege to witness yesterday a scene unparalleled in a nation's history, and that was the birth of a fleet signifying that Australia is adopting responsibility for her own defence," said Lord Denham, Governor-General of the commonwealth, at the memorable banquet in Sydney last night. "Australia," he added, "has risen to another height and has made a real and valuable contribution to the naval strength of the Empire, which feels exceptionally grateful for what the commonwealth has done."

Ex-Premier Fisher said: "The British authorities have entrusted Australia's destinies to Australia, and the trust must be honored. When every dominion has its own fleet the empire will be able to dictate the world's peace."

Rear-Admiral Patey said the Australian policy was sound, while Senator Pearce, ex-Minister of Defence, expressed the hope that the other dominions would follow Australia's example.

Thus does Australia celebrate the completion of her first unit, vindicating the policy of a local navy agreed upon with the Admiralty and Canada in 1909. When that policy was announced no politicians there, after supporting it, endeavored to make party capital out of it. Nobody dared to stigmatize the modest beginning as a "tin-pot navy." Nobody declared that Australians could not be induced to man the ships. Nobody there was craven-hearted enough to assert that Australians could not build up an effective organization within perhaps half a century. The government received the unanimous support of all political parties. The result was that when the call for recruits went out thousands offered themselves for enlistment. The obligation is not compulsory. It is only the two or three weeks' training for the naval and military reserve that is compulsory, which is altogether a different thing.

What a contrast Canada presents! She too embarked upon a policy with the original support of both parties. Then Mr. Borden saw an opportunity to gain party capital. Between the first and second reading of the naval service bill he altered his attitude. He and his friends attacked the local policy as aiming at separatism. They declared that Canadians could not build ships; that they could not man ships; and did their utmost to discourage the enlistment of recruits and to cause dissatisfaction in the minds of recruits already enlisted by declaring that the navy was a "tin-pot" affair and would not amount to anything. There is not the slightest doubt that had Mr. Borden and his party continued in their support of the Laurier policy—Canada to-day would have had a fleet unit almost ready for service. Like Australia, she would have started in a small way and increased her programme just as soon as she saw that her people would support it.

Australia, ninety per cent. of whose people are of British birth of direct British extraction, has a fleet unit on the seas flying both the Union Jack and the Australian ensign. She is nobly taking up the admiralty's burden in the South Pacific. She is ready to face the cost and the trials and tribulations involved in her splendid policy of maintaining British prestige overseas. She is a nation, and tearing a leaf from the glorious record of the motherland, she wants to stand up by her own feet. She asks Canada to do the same. Should not Canada do it?

Mr. W. H. Prior, who handles the Beaver Club and the other machine with conspicuous ability, has suggested that Victoria will very probably be given two representatives when redistribution takes place and counsels both Liberals and Conservatives to register, because the representation of the constituency may depend upon the number of names on the voters' list. Mr. Prior may have received his information from an official source—say from our representative for example—but most people who know anything about the method of assigning representatives to the provinces and to constituencies will know that Mr. Prior is more reliable as a machine-operator than as a constitutional adviser. Nevertheless the advice to register is sound.

While we hate to hastily judge a brother mine, it is our duty to point out that there is a growing suspicion abroad that it was not really urgent public business that called Sir Richard across the ocean, but simply and truly "the lure of the continent," which gets into the blood of all who make frequent trips—particularly at the public expense—to Great Britain. Apropos, latest advices contain the information that Sir Richard is in Paris.

The Colonist says golf is not a sport or a game, it is just a state of mind. That is what philosophers and other highbrows tell us about contentment or happiness. Now "a state of mind" might easily be associated with certain seemingly bellicose sounds, sometimes resembling the bellows of an enraged bull, sometimes like unto the deep, muttered growls of an angered army colonel, that are frequently heard in the neighborhood of the golf links on an otherwise peaceful Sunday morning. But such "outpourings of spirit" could never be connected with beauty. The definition is not satisfactory. Our contemporary must go deeper into the subject.

"We may go further back and say that during the past twenty years its (the Liberal party's) career has been one of obstruction, personal criticism and vituperation." Nay, nay, not so, gentle neighbor. There was no Conservative or Liberal party in provincial politics twenty years ago, nor twelve years ago. When he was leader of the coalition-opposition to a coalition government in 1903, Sir Richard McBride had more Liberals behind him than the premier of that day had in his own ranks. In fact it was a Liberal, John Oliver, who brought about the overthrow of the Prior government and raised Sir Richard to the position he has since held. We recite these well-known facts for the information of our contemporary only.

Mr. Borden has cabled congratulations to Australia on the occasion of the official reception to the battleships Australia and Sydney. He assures the commonwealth that Canada stands "shoulder to shoulder with Australia and the other dominions in the firm resolve to safeguard our common heritage." In other words, Mr. Borden congratulates Australia on the successful progress of a policy he himself discarded because in his opinion Canada was incapable of carrying it out. "Nothing of effective character can be built up in this country within twenty-five years or perhaps half a century," were his words in parliament on December 5, 1912. And he says he has not even given consideration to a permanent policy. What a humiliating figure he has made of Canada in the eyes of the world!

Enlistment in the Australian navy is not compulsory. The compulsory aspect of service in that country is in the several weeks' training which every male within certain age limits has to undergo. After the annual training is over he returns to his ordinary occupation, whatever it may be. Enlistment in the navy for a term of years is a different thing. It is not compulsory, and probably never will be, because of the success which has attended the recruiting.

Might we suggest to our contemporary that the time is opportune for another appreciation of the Premier. A full explanation of the public business that took him to London, and the measure of success he has met with in transacting the same, would afford an excellent palliative for the accompanying flattery. The people are really interested in the Premier's movements; did they not pay $13,000 for one trip?

TO MAKE IT EASIER.

From the London Advertiser.
Why are all the federal bye-elections not fixed by Mr. Rogers for the same date? Because Mr. Rogers thinks he can better "fix" the constituencies if he hasn't too many on his hands at the same time.

FRANKLY NERVOUS.

From the Washington Star.
"Do you think you would be frightened in a battle?"
"I'm afraid so," replied Mr. Chuggins.
"Every time I heard a gunshot I'd imagine one of my automobile tires had blown out."

PLEASING VAUDEVILLE

Good Bill Presented This Week at the Empress Theatre; Star of Off-Stage 666 in Sole Turn.

Seldom has a better bill been presented at the Empress theatre than was put on last evening. Excellent variety of singing, patter and dancing pleased a full house and many encores were called.

One of the cleverest turns of the evening was the rendering of a collection of songs and stories by Clarence Oliver, late star of "Officer 666," who has a style all his own as a raconteur and a quiet, very distinct manner of speaking which is distinctly refreshing after the noisy blustering of many modern vaudeville artists.

"Othello Outdone," a travesty of the great Shakespearean tragedy, was well presented. Harry E. Allen being particularly good as the jealous Moor. A liberal cast filled out a burlesque that is above the average.

A varied patter and musical act entitled "Sam At The Circus," by Gruett and Gruett, was excellently put on, while Tom O'Brien and Madison Lear offered some new songs and mimetic creations which were well received. The former has a fine falsetto voice which he uses to good effect in several songs.

Novelty dancers and the never failing Gaumont pictures rounded off a very pleasing evening's entertainment.

MORE LIGHTS FOR ESQUIMALT.

Hundred and Twenty-One Left Side of a Few Dark Corners: Opened Two New Streets.

As there are still a few dark corners in Esquimalt the council decided last night to put in eight or ten more lights and these will be placed this week. At first 75 were ordered. Then this number was increased to 121 and now the few remaining nooks are being lighted so that Esquimalt will be one of the best-lighted districts near Victoria.

In opening up a new subdivision north of the Esquimalt road the council decided to remove the stumps and rocks from Granville street and open it up from Esquimalt road to the old road of that name. North of the old road Drake avenue will be opened for a wagon way 200 or 400 yards along from Granville street in order that work may be begun in the subdivision.

Little other business except the passing of monthly accounts occupied the attention of the Esquimalt councilors at their regular meeting last evening.

ST. PAUL'S SCENE OF CHARMING WEDDING

Nuptials of Mr. Robert Thompson and Miss Ethel Maude Jones Solemnized

St. Paul's church, which was beautifully decorated for the previous day's services, was the scene of a charming wedding last evening, the bride being Ethel Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, of Crittall street, Esquimalt, and the bridegroom Robert Alexander Gough Thompson, the son of C. A. Thompson, government agent at Nanaimo.

The Rev. W. Baugh Allen performed the rite, and the church was crowded with interested friends of the happy pair. The choir met the bride at the entrance to the church, and preceded her up the aisle singing "The Voice of the Bride." She was "That Breath'd O'er Eden." She was given away by her father, and looked a pretty picture in a becoming gown of white silk trimmed with white lace, her veil of white tulle arranged in Juliet cap style and wreathed round with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses and maidenhair fern, and sparkling in the folds of her bodice was a beautiful diamond sunburst given by her aunt, Mrs. Mitchell. Two bridesmaids attended her, these being Miss Caroline Thomas and Miss Beckley. The former wore pale blue satin trimmed with white tulle and lace, and a dark blue plush hat with ostrich plumes, while Miss Beckley wore white lace over pale blue, and a white picture hat trimmed with rosebuds and velvet. Each carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Allen Ford acted as best man, and Mr. Kenneth Jones as usher.

During the services the organist played the Mendelssohn Wedding March, also the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. After the ceremony a largely-attended reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, Crittall street, the newly-wedded couple standing in a bow of white and yellow chrysanthemums to receive the congratulations of their many friends. In the dining-room, where a delicious supper was served, similar and white chrysanthemums were used in an effective canopy design, the handsome wedding cake standing in a blaze of light in the centre of the table, and autumn leaves, silver candlesticks and carnations appearing in the scheme of decorations.

Mrs. Jones, the bride's mother, was handsome in mauve satin with hat to match, while Mrs. Thompson, the mother of the bridegroom, wore broad velvet in a becoming shade of wisteria.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left by the midnight train for Vancouver, en route for Seattle and other Sound cities, the bride wearing a smart tailored suit of pale blue cloth and a pale blue hat trimmed with a long ostrich plume. On their return to Victoria they will make their home at May street.

The bridegroom's presents were: To the bridesmaids, pearl brooches; and to the bride, a handsome silver purse.

Opened Social Season—The retail employees of Victoria inaugurated their social programme for the winter with a successful whist drive in the Moose hall. A more ambitious effort will be their whist drive and dance at the Knights of Pythias hall on October 13.

Candidates Initiated—Last evening Tel El Mahute Temple, No. 155, Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, initiated twenty candidates into the mysteries of the Oasis and Sands at the lodge meeting held at the Knights of Pythias hall. After the ceremonial, which was presided over by Royal Vizeir Esnouf, the newly-initiated members and the votaries of the order met at the banquet hall, where J. S. Smith took the chair, and speeches were made by prominent members of the order.

A number of candidates responded to their names, and gave a little account of their journeys. Visiting members were present from the temples in Vancouver, Seattle and also several members from Island points.

A LINE O' CHEER EACH DAY O' TH' YEAR

By John Kendrick Bange

A PLEASANT SIGHT.

I've seen full many a pleasant sight That filled my spirit with delight: Green hills, the broad sweep of the sea, The flame of some autumnal tree. Like some great torch athwart the sky, The love-light in a lover's eye. But none more glad I ever knew Than that which flashed across my view.

When, sitting on the floor to-day I saw two merry wights at play, A grand-dad full of gleeful joy, A-playing marbles with his boy!

"MADAME X" PLAYED

Production of Noted Play by Williams Players Made Excellent Impression; Piece Pleased Audience.

The Williams Players last evening gave a finished and artistic presentation of "Madame X," one of the most noted plays of the last few years. There was not a weak spot apparent in the entire cast, and the stage-settings were admirable. Miss Page had apparently given much thought and study to the part of "Madame X," for her conception of the character was convincing. Mr. Mitchell gave an interesting study of the son who knowingly pleaded his mother's case, and the address to the jury was a study in histrionics. Mr. Belasco, as Noel, and Mr. Sullivan, as Florio, made a strong impression on their audiences. The production was smooth throughout and the warm reception accorded the piece indicated that it was one of the most successful the company has put on for some time.

ENCROACH ON PARK.

Chinese Market Gardeners Are Using City Property to Grow Vegetables.

That upon five acres of the Mount Douglas park Chinese market gardeners are encroaching appeared from a report to the city council last evening from the collector, who stated that the necessary registration of titles of section 30, Victoria district, and section 74 A, lake district, had been secured.

Such had been expected, but until the surveys had been completed recently it was impossible for the city to know exactly how far its title extended.

On the advice of the solicitor it was determined to take action to recover possession of this land.

In order to carry this desire into effect the council decided to leave the subject with the city clerk, who is to consult with the city solicitor and report back.

HENRY MILLER COMING.

Henry Miller has started his first tour of the West and the Pacific Coast, and will be at the Victoria theatre, October 18. He will bring the New York cast and production of "The Rainbow." Its long run in New York at the Liberty, followed by extended engagements in Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia, kept it from the road for two seasons. Mr. Miller's cast tour starting at Minneapolis, will cover Winnipeg, Butte, Spokane, Seattle, Victoria, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Denver, and only a half dozen single night engagements between. In the cast will be Ruth Chatterton, whose creation of the role of the daughter was one of the features in the New York run; Louise Closser Hale, Muriel Hope, Alice Baxter, Charles Hammond, Robert Stowe Gill, E. Conway Wingfield, Daniel Pennell and others.

WELCOME EDUCATIONALIST

Young Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church Becomes Acquainted With Rev. Mr. Gibson.

At the First Presbyterian church Rev. Mr. Gibson, of Vancouver, who has come to the city to take charge of the educational work among the young people of that congregation, was formally welcomed by the Young Men's Club, at the weekly meeting of that organization last evening.

The reception took place in the social rooms of the church, and was attended by a large number of men, Rev. Mr. Gibson being formally introduced by Professor Pigeon, of Westminster hall, who, in the course of an interesting discourse related some of his own experiences among the young people with whom he had worked at various times. In conclusion an outline was given of the fundamental needs of a young people's society, and the sort of help and instruction which its members required to bring it up to a certain standard ideal.

Rev. F. G. Inkster, the pastor of the church, also spoke, and the leaders of the various organizations in the church were personally introduced to the new official, who, in a

That's what you get with the Edison Disc-Type Phonograph, the greatest instrument for sound reproduction the world has ever seen. No other instrument compares with it. It is the first instrument to reproduce music perfectly. Scores of former owners of other types of instruments have discarded them for the new.

EDISON Disc-Type

If you have not yet heard this marvelous instrument you have missed a treat and have disregarded the discovery that has aroused the entire world of music.

The New Edison reproduces, for the first time, the overtones, or tone color, and by this achievement it gets entirely away from the thin, "tinny" sound of the average instrument and gives you the full, rich tone just as it was produced in the original.

The New Edison embodies a wealth of features. For instance, it uses a permanent diamond-point needle that never requires to be changed. This is a saving of time, money and trouble. It is fitted with an automatic stop device which is a part of the instrument. This device stops the motor when the record is finished, without aid from the operator. Furthermore the records played on the New Edison are made of a new material perfected by Mr. Edison. These records are practically non-breakable and may be thrown about with impunity. They also admit of such a fine groove that they play for twice the time occupied by the ordinary record of any other make.

The New Edison is, by all odds, the ONE instrument to buy. It will add a new world of pleasure to hundreds of homes on Vancouver Island this Winter. Why not think about having it in YOUR home!

HOUSING THE CHILDREN

To-morrow Will Probably See Completion of School Building Programme for Current Year.

In letting a contract on Wednesday for the Hollywood school, it is thought the board will complete the building programme for the winter season, as the small school at James Bay is only for primary classes. The two schools will probably cost from $50,000 to $55,- 000 each, and will materially relieve the present pressure on the accommodation, although the figures for September show a material increase in attendance. The Quadra street school will take from the George Jay and Oaklands schools their surplus, while the Hollywood school is destined to assist Sir James Douglas and Bancroft schools.

Meanwhile to establish the nucleus for schools at these two centres small buildings in conformity with the general plan will be constructed at once, so built that they can readily be adapted for manual training and domestic science departments later. Here 50 or 60 children can be housed till the schools are ready for occupation. It may be safely said that the architects are learning by experience, as the board is showing on each occasion that little improvements learned from experience may be added to new buildings when the plans are prepared.

SCRAP BOOK.

A Year of War and Its Cost.

A year ago to-day the Bulgarian,
Serbian and Montenegrin frontiers echoed to the tramp of armed hosts.
The people of the Balkan States, convinced by hatred of their ancient enemy, aroused to wild enthusiasm by patriotic fervor and religious devotion, were preparing to carry the Cross into battle against the Crescent. Europe trembled, fearing that the storm might spread and drench the continent with blood. On the 5th of October the fiery old king of little Montenegro declared war against Turkey, and a day later captured a strong Turkish position on the frontier. Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece followed with declarations and invasions of Turkish territory.

In the year that has passed since the outbreak of war the Balkan States have gained a hard-won victory over the Turks; they have fought among themselves over the division of the conquered territory, and have committed atrocities that would shame the Moslem; they have lost by diplomacy a large part of the spoils of battle; they have left their fields uncultivated, and their ploughs to rust in the furrow, and a multitude now face a winter of starvation and famine; they have covered the conquered country with graves in which lie their noblest and best sons; they have transformed every household into an abode of mourning, and given every family its cripple;
they have mortgaged the future for a hundred years in order to get money to carry on the struggle, and they have exchanged old hatreds for new ones, which must again and again flame forth into war. The folly and futility of war have never been better demonstrated than in the Balkan States during the last year.

It is estimated that the allies sent 300,000 troops into the field last October, representing practically the entire male population of over sixteen years of age in the four countries. Of these, no less than 100,000, or one in every eight, are now corpses, either killed in battle or dead of disease. The money cost of the war and the subsequent battles between the allies has been not less than $400,000,000.

For this appalling outlay of blood and treasure, the Balkan States have gained what?

Weakness Overcome

Every wineglassful of "Wincarnis" creates a definite amount of new strength, new vigor, new vitality, and new life. And this is the reason: "Wincarnis" (the wine of life) is a tonic, restorative, blood-maker and nerve food. Its first effect is to promote a feeling of invigoration. Then it enriches and rejuvenates the blood, soothes and feeds the nerves, rebuilds

If you suffer from Anaemia, Sleeplessness, Brain-fag, Weakunrivaled reputation of nearly thirty years' standing—that it is recommended by over 10,000 doctors—and that count-that it gives new life to the invalid—renewed strength to struggle, gets a narrow strip of all but him.

Bulgaria has gained a coast line and a stretch of country of no great value, Adrianople, for which Bulgarians fought so long and at so great a cost, has been given back to Turkey.

Serbia, which spent all she had in money and men, got the fertile Vardar valley, and a guarantee from Greece of access to the sea—a right for which she may have to fight again.

Greece fared the best of all the allies, as she gained the important port of Salonica, and a rich country along the Aegean.

Roumania, although not a participant in the war, forced Bulgaria to give up a section of country bordering on the Balk Sea which she long has coveted.

Albania, a new nation, has been carved out of the conquered territory, and has already become a scene of strife and bloodshed.

The war, so tremendous in its scale, so terrible in its after effects, has not solved the Balkan question, but only made it a graver source of danger to the remainder of Europe.

ALLEGES GRAFT IN CONTRACT FOR PIPE

Row Occurs in City Council When Alderman Suggests Change in Tenders

POSTPONE ACTION ON CONCRETE FLOWLINE

Alderman Humber Accuses Colleague of Being "In Ring"

"Alderman Gleason is probably in a ring—and there is a ring," declared Alderman Humber at the city council last evening, when Alderman Gleason advocated awarding to the Pacific Lock Joint Company the contract for the concrete pipe from Sooke Lake to Mumpback.

There was immediately an uproar and Alderman Gleason told the aldermen he would have to take the remark back.

Mayor Morley: "That is a direct accusation of graft, and no council will allow that statement." Alderman Humber qualified his statement to the effect that there was a ring, and no one would persuade him there was not.

The council determined to meet in committee of the whole on the tenders on Friday evening. However, this decision was not reached till the conclusion of a story in which the accusations were freely exchanged, the spectators outside the hall taking part.

Water Commissioner Rust plainly told the council that the personalities of the members did not interest the consulting engineer and himself, but they did want to see a commencement made with the work set out in the tenders.

The Tenders. The report from Mr. Rust on the draft Construction Company's bid ran in part:

"Since my letter of August 11 we have looked very carefully into the qualifications, etc., of the draft Construction Company, and while the second concrete contractors is satisfactory, they have, so far as we have been able to ascertain, never undertaken the construction of concrete pipe. It is so essential this concrete pipe should be properly constructed and laid that it is absolutely necessary none but experienced contractors should be awarded this work. I would, therefore, recommend, in view of these circumstances, that the contract be now awarded to the next lowest tenderer, namely, the Pacific Lock Joint Pipe Co. The amount of their tender is $329,760, or $21,600 in excess of the draft Construction Company."

"If the contract is awarded to this company, they have informed me that as they have 42-inch forms on hand they will substitute 42-inch pipe in place of 40-inch, without any additional cost to the city, but this is a matter of detail which can be left to the engineers to decide."

"They further agree, if awarded this contract, to increase their plant so as to complete this work by December 31, 1914. This will enable the entire system to be completed six months earlier, thereby effecting a saving to the city of some $40,000, being the cost of procuring water from the Esquimalt Water Works Co. This will be an offset to the $21,600, being the amount of their tender above the next lowest."

"The Pacific Lock Joint Pipe Co. have made a special study of the construction of concrete pipe, and have manufactured many miles of this class of pipe, ranging in diameter from 24 to 34 inches. The manufacture of reinforced concrete pipe is materially different from other concrete work, and the importance of having this pipe properly constructed and laid, I consider, warrants the city in accepting the tender of the Pacific Lock Joint Pipe Co., even at a high cost."

"As it is of the utmost importance that no time should be lost in completing this work, I trust your council will reach a decision upon this tender this evening."

"Riveted Steel Pipe. The lowest tender was received from Jones & Rant for $398,263, but this was on a percentage basis, and is irregular, and I therefore, recommend the acceptance of the next lowest tender, namely, that of Macdonald Godson Co., their price being $444,988."

"Jones & Rant forwarded a communication to your council on August 25 in reference to this matter, submitting a new proposal, their tender being $444,475. In this proposal they state they will be associated with Messrs. Grey & Bullen, and Evans, Coleman & Evans, Ltd. Like the previous offer this tender is informal, and I cannot recommend its acceptance."

Mr. Meredith concurred by telegram in the recommendations.

A Question of Tenderers.

Alderman Gleason said there was this outstanding fact that the draft Construction Company had not done work of this character, and in addition to the saving on the cost of water in 1915 from the Esquimalt Water Works Company, the city would get an assured job from an experienced company, which was prepared to lay a 42-inch pipe.

Alderman Fullerton moved that all questions should be referred to a special meeting of the council, to give the aldermen an occasion to look into the rival claims of contractors. He therefore asked the council to support the amendment.

Alderman Cuthbert seconded, and said the proposition looked like a fraudulent one, in that the council was asked to let contracts to a company whose tender was higher, and upon a different dimension from that which the bidders originally.

Alderman Gleason argued against the delay, saying the bidders were waiting, and the subject had been before the aldermen for two months. If the Pacific Company had the forms ready it would be cheaper for them to give a 42-inch rather than a 40-inch pipe on the flow line. Practical men knew this to be true. The Pacific Company was registered in British Columbia, but the draft Company was not, and in the former case the company's experience.

Nigger in Pile.

Alderman Humber learned from the water commissioner that the difference in the forms represented about $15,000. "There is a nigger in the wood pile," he said, "and we want an investigation into the whole contract." (Hear, hear.) He opposed the award of the contract.

Alderman McNeill asked where the money was coming from if the council awarded the contract. He was not satisfied that the money would be forthcoming to pay the cost. Suppose the 42-inch pipe was attacked in the court? The whole arrangement of these contracts had been unsatisfactory, and the council ought to have been taken into the confidence of the water commissioner and mayor. (Hear, hear.) There ought to have been a private meeting before the council formally awarded the contracts. He declared there was an attempt to rush the project through.

Money Available.

"Alderman Gleason said the fiscal agents of the city had assured him the money would be forthcoming. It had been stated that the agents could place $100,000 at once by a private sale, and other money would be available as required. The matter had been reported to the council."

This last statement was objected to by Alderman McNeill, who denied that this information was available prior to that meeting.

Alderman McCandless declared that the letter had been read in committee, and the information was therefore available to the aldermen.

Alderman Cuthbert said the aldermen were like the Biblical man whose left hand did not know what the right hand did. Even two fingers of the finance committee did not know who had set the price at which the bonds were for sale.

The alderman believed that the best way would be to refer back the contracts.

"I know there is money for contracts," he stated, "going around this town, and I say these contracts are not to be let to-night, and that they should be called for again." (Applause.) Mayor Morley hoped the adjourned meeting would be held immediately, as the work was most urgent. It was untrue to say that the contracts had been rushed. The aldermen had been supplied with all information. It was after the tenders were opened that the question arose as to which of the tenderers for the concrete pipe should have first consideration in council, and then he had learned that the Pacific Lock Joint Company's representative had told the commissioner that they had standard sizes of 42-inch and not 40-inch for their forms. It was agreed that the company should be willing to carry the work out by December 31, 1914, and having learned that it was legal through City Solicitor Robertson and Mr. Ritchie, K. C., at the same cost as the 40-inch, the water commissioner now made the present proposal.

Every alderman would be doing his duty to get a 42-inch pipe instead of a 40-inch at the same price. Alderman Cuthbert had put every obstacle in the way of the passage of the by-law.

Gives Denial.

Alderman Cuthbert: "That is untrue."

The mayor continued that Alderman Cuthbert had done everything to delay the progress of the waterworks. He would not stand for an insinuation that anyone was getting money out of the contracts, as the charges were utterly unfounded. The citizens had adopted the by-law, and they knew what they were voting for.

Alderman Cuthbert was on his feet to reply when ex-City Solicitor McDiarmid from the body of the hall observed: "You are a liar."

The alderman answered the interrupter, and was called to order.

An Inconsistency.

Was it consistent, asked Alderman Humber, for Alderman Gleason to desire to alter the riveted steel pipe tender so that one of the largest construction firms in British Columbia should be removed in order to place the work with Jones & Rant, Ltd., a local firm? He personally had been offered money for his vote on the waterworks issue.

Alderman Gleason justified his action by a report from Consulting Engineer Meredith on the subject on August 25, in which the Pacific Lock Joint Company's bid was recommended.

"I stand up here and deny the statements that the money is floating round," he concluded, "or that there is any ring."

The water commissioner said that the consulting engineer and himself had no interest to serve except the benefit of the council and city. With emphasis he declared: "I wish, gentlemen, you would get down to business, and deal with these contracts. It is a more serious thing for the city to get this work started."

Alderman Dilworth believed the whole question arose from the fact that Mr. Meredith's estimate of capacity was in error.

"I will not stand for this," declared the mayor.

Alleges Hoodwinking.

"We have been badly hoodwinked, and the elections have been hoodwinked." If the intelligent people had come out on Thursday they would have defeated the by-law. (The mayor: "Oh.")

The aldermen went on to argue that the flow line ought to have been abandoned for the tunnel. The aldermen had to remember that.

The water commissioner said he did not consider the question of capacity.

but simply the security of the pipe line, knowing the importance of good concrete pipe construction. By a vote of six to three the proposal to let the contract for the concrete pipe at once was rejected.

The motion to meet on Friday night was adopted in committee of the whole.

To the Editor:—Transparently disguised as an "irate citizen" a daily paper expresses a wish to pull your nose.

Language of this kind in the twentieth century is positively cowardly, as all modern editors are expected to "turn the left cheek" instead of retaliating on the other nose; or taking chances the following morning at 12 p.m. On the same shrapnel page, the Times is accused of using a "crude, gross and deliberate misrepresentation" for saying that the following sentences are, in effect, the same:

1. "It is the fault of a few people in Victoria that the prices are higher, and the fault of the rest of us that we stand for it."

2. "It is solely the fault of the people of Victoria that the cost of living is so high."

As both sentences embrace all Victoria, there was no excuse, except politics, for heaping upon the Times insults equivalent to a direct accusation of falsehood.

No matter, sir, I admit, and I am sure it is to you a comfort and satisfaction to know you are the best-hated newspaper in Victoria, by those that have anything to conceal in the political or any other line.

However, in justice to those blind men of the fourth page, I must allow when I come personally in contact with them they appear to be comparatively simple, harmless persons, with limited experience, who couldn't get the better of a child.

VICTORIA PASTOR SPOKE

Rev. J. G. Inkster delivered Address to Graduating Class of Westminster Hall, Urged Action.

Rev. J. G. Inkster, of the First Presbyterian church, was selected by his ministerial brethren to deliver the address to the graduating class at the annual convocation of Westminster hall, the Presbyterian College of British Columbia, last week.

He urged the class to stick to three things: "Their habits of study," their "college friendships" and their "love for their alma mater." In counselling them as candidates for the ministry about to enter upon their sacred calling, he forcefully pressed upon them the need of being faithful in "pastoral visitation." He said that in Victoria the records showed that there were 10,000 people professing to be Presbyterians, while their church congregations could only muster up two thousand. The same conditions existed elsewhere.

He attributed this unfortunate condition of things as due to a failure on the part of the preachers to "get around and look them up." "What are you Presbyterian preachers doing?" he exclaimed earnestly.

He next exhorted them to "know their Bible and preach it."

He emphasized the necessity for efforts to interest the young people in church work and announced that A. R. Gibson, one of the graduating class had been secured to take full charge of the young people in his church at Victoria during the coming year.

Dr. F. F. Westbrook, president of the new university, and Rev. Principal Mackay spoke of the year's work at Westminster hall, the former referring to the fact that it was a college affiliated to the university.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

Prof. Charles Frederick Marvin, who recently succeeded Prof. Willis Moore as Uncle Sam's chief weather sharp, is a native of Putnam, O., where he was born fifty-five years ago to-day. Dr. Marvin assumed the direction of the United States weather bureau last July, and the very first thing he did was to turn on a temperature of 103 in the shade. On the second day he gave Washington another sample of what he could do by staging the greatest electrical display witnessed in Washington in thirty years. He followed this with a rain that was a "regular gully washer," and it is understood that he is now anxiously awaiting the arrival of the season when he can show off his line of beautiful snow and white mania.

Ever since he graduated from Ohio State University, thirty years ago, Prof. Marvin has been studying the weather, and he has long been a recognized authority in snow, sleet, slush, rain, clouds, hail, atmosphere,

DELAY DISCUSSED.

Mayor Shows That City is Not Responsible for Slow Progress on Johnson Street Bridge.

Why is the provincial government delaying a commencement on the Johnson Street bridge? Mayor Morley sought to answer this question when interrogated by Alderman Cuthbert at the meeting of the city council last evening.

The mayor stated that it is not the city's fault that progress is so slow but that there are questions of location and of grade which have still to be settled.

Chief Engineer of Railways Gamble is away. When he returns the subject will be taken up again with the government officials.

The mayor denied that the differences with the various parties were considerable.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

A day of tragic memory, for frightful disaster in New Brunswick, in October 7, of the year 1825. As is the case now, one of the important provincial industries was lumbering, and the wealth of merchantable timber had drawn numerous settlers to the banks of the Miramichi river. In fact, the whole district was populous, containing many villages and several good towns. The summer had been hot and dry; no rain had fallen for weeks; and the smaller streams had been literally parched up. There had been many destructive fires, but the worst of them sank into insignificance beside the great calamity of "this day." On October 7 a fire broke out, which swept a "storm of flame," over 5,000 square miles, and from Miramichi to the Bay of Chaleur. Acres upon acres of forest; log cabins in lonely clearings; barns and fine farm houses; villages with stores and mills; three or four towns; even ships upon the stocks at the water's edge—were consumed. Sudden, of all, nearly 500 people lost their lives, and multitudes of others, some grievously injured, would have had to face starvation in the blackened wilderness, had not generous help poured in to tide them at least over the coming winter.

Major-General Sir Isaac Brock, the British hero of the war of 1812, was born in the island of Guernsey 144 years ago yesterday. He was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada and commander of the forces, in October, 1811, and when war was declared by the United States he took prompt and decisive measures for the defence of the province. He had anticipated what was coming, and had warned the home government of the inevitability of the conflict. Timidity, and in some cases disloyalty, prevailed in the legislature convened at York soon after the beginning of hostilities. Brock acted with such vigor, however, that the disaffected, who had believed that the Americans would have little trouble in capturing Canada, soon rallied to his standard. Carrying the war to the enemy's country, he captured Detroit and defeated the Americans all along the line. While leading his men in the battle of Queenstown, he fell with a ball in the breast, and with his dying breath asked that his death be concealed from the soldiers. During his funeral the guns of the American forts were fired as a token of respect. A monument was erected to his memory in St. Paul's Cathedral, and Canada honored its gallant defender with a magnificent column on Queenston Heights.

October 6 was the birthday of James McGill, founder of the Montreal university which bears his name, at Glasgow, 1744.

FIRST THINGS

The first daily newspaper in Boston, and also the first in New England, was issued 117 years ago, October 6, 1796, with Alexander Martin as its publisher and John O'Leary Burke, a "United Irishman" adherent, as editor. It was a small sheet, devoted principally to political propaganda, and it lasted less than six months. Early in 1798 Caleb P. Wayne established a daily journal in the Massachusetts capital. It did not live as long as its predecessor, Boston remained without a daily paper until 1812, when the Daily Advertiser was launched. W. W. Clapp was the founder, and Horatio Biglow the first editor of this paper, which is still published, having recently celebrated its centenary. The next important journalistic development in Boston was the American Traveler, founded by Royal L. Porter in 1825. The Traveler originally devoted to the publication of stage coach time tables, developed into a daily paper, and is still published as the afternoon edition of the Herald. The Boston Transcript was founded in 1830, the Post in 1831, the Journal in 1833, the Herald in 1846 and the Globe in 1872.

MINISTER ARRIVES

Hon. C. J. Doherty, Accompanied by Wife and Daughter, Comes to Victoria on Afternoon Boat.

"Though we have been criticized in some instances for our action in flying (as some have put it) in the face of the courts, I think that the subsequent circumstances of the Thaw incident in Canada have shown us to be perfectly right in our actions. We were acting on absolute knowledge. It was perfectly clear to us that Thaw had to be got out of the country, and so we took what appeared to us to be the only efficacious way."

So said Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who arrived in Victoria this afternoon in the company of Mrs. Doherty and Miss Doherty. He was met at the wharf by R. H. Barnard, M. P., who escorted the party in his car for a drive around the city.

"This is my first visit to the coast," said Mr. Doherty in answer to a question, "though not to the West. I served as a soldier in the Northwest rebellion in 1885, and saw some of it then."

The object of his present trip he explained was for the purpose of looking thoroughly over Canada's penal institutions and examining himself with government prisons and their management.

A commission was recently appointed to make a thorough inspection of penitentiaries, report to parliament and make suggestions. With what he has learned during the trip, and will learn, aided by the findings of the commission, Mr. Doherty believes that much can be done to improve Canadian prisons.

On being requested to state what new laws of importance would be introduced at the forthcoming session of the Dominion house, Hon. Mr. Doherty said that he had hopes that the penal legislation would be altered and adjusted so as to conform more closely with those of Great Britain and other parts of the Empire so that naturalization would be uniform, and a man who took on British citizenship in Canada would be a British subject in every part of the Empire, which is not the case to-day.

B. C. Land Surveyors—About sixty men are writing in the B. C. Land Surveyors' final examinations which opened to-day at the Alexandra Club, and will continue every day until next Monday evening.

The remains of the late Edwin A. Dodd, who died at Santiago, Cal., on September 27, arrived in the city to-day accompanied by Mrs. Dodd, and are reposing at the Sands-Fulton funeral parlors, whence the funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30. Rev. Dr. Scott, of the Metropolitan Methodist church, will conduct the services. The deceased is survived by a wife, living at Oliver street, Oak Bay, his parents, at Salmon Arm, and three brothers and two sisters. He came here from Calgary, and had lived in the city for about one and a half years.

WATER CUT OFF FROM B. C. E. RY. CO.

Esquimalt Waterworks Company Says Too Much Was Being Taken

ELECTRIC COMPANY STARTS LEGAL ACTION

City's Light and Power Dependent on Jordan River and Brentwood Bay Stations

Exactly at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon all the water power operating the Goldstream plant of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company was summarily cut off by the Esquimalt Waterworks Company. Immediately every portion of the huge plant became idle, and as no further power was forthcoming the plant perforce had to be closed down.

Legal action was taken by the British Columbia Electric Company within an hour of the incident. The legal firm of Bodwell & Lawton was retained and before noon a writ was issued against the Waterworks Company in the supreme court. The writ asked for an injunction and for damages.

E. V. Bodwell, K. C., was in the court house all morning endeavoring to find a judge for the purpose of making ex parte application for an injunction. Chief Justice Hunter was engaged in chambers and Mr. Justice Gregory in the assize until 1 o'clock.

The writ issued by Henry G. Lawson in behalf of the B. C. Electric Company stated that the plaintiff's claim was for an injunction to restrain the defendants, their agents, servants, or workmen from cutting off the supply of water to the works of the plaintiff at Goldstream and for a mandatory injunction requiring the defendants to supply through their pipes to the works of the plaintiff a quantity of at least 15,000,000 gallons a day, and for damages.

In the absence of Managing Director J. A. Sayward, E. B. Halsall, secretary of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company, was the first to appear in court. He stated that the British Columbia Electric Railway is using more water than the agreement calls for.

In order that a check could be made, the Esquimalt officials asked for the plant to be shut down for 24 hours, he states.

This proposal was declined by the Esquimalt company. Mr. Halsall declared, and the waterworks company proceeded to close the plant itself. In doing so the spindle of a valve broke, and put the plant out of commission. It had not been the intention to force a crisis, but the accident has precipitated the present situation.

Men are now at work endeavoring to repair the valve.

As a result of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company's action the street railway and city lighting company have to procure their power from Jordan River and Brentwood Bay along long distance transmission lines, 40 miles from Jordan River and 12 1/2 miles from Brentwood Bay. These long transmission lines are prone to breakdowns, especially at a stormy season of the year such as the coast is at present experiencing when frequent gales often blow down the poles and sever the wires.

Should a single wire be broken at any time to-day on either of the transmission lines the city will be without artificial illumination and without street car service.

The contract between the two companies as drawn up provides for the daily supply of water to the British Columbia Electric Railway Company of 15,000,000 gallons. This has been going on now for ten years, and the contract calls for similar service to the end of the street railway company's franchise, of which there are 24 years to run. When the water was cut off yesterday 8,000,000 gallons had been supplied during the day.

The water used by the power company has recently been supplying the city as well. After passing through the works of the Goldstream plant it fell into the reservoir and was from thence supplied to Victoria residents.

The Goldstream plant, though not the largest of the company's ventures in this direction, is capable of developing 2,000 horse power, and on account of its nearness to Victoria, is by far the most useful and efficacious of them all. It converts a large area of ground, but is operated by only four men. The principal service of the company has always been done through this plant, though of late Jordan River power has been added, as the latter, working through the great dam which the company's enterprise erected, can develop 12,000 horse power.

While the water power is cut off at the Goldstream plant the main source of power supply for the city lighting and street cars will be the Jordan River plant, which is one of the large electric energy producers in the Dominion.

The power plant alone cost the company $1,500,000 and the cost of the dam (in the neighborhood of $500,000) must be added together with an expenditure of $450,000 to enlarge the existing generating plant. At the present time pipe line is being laid at Jordan River for the installation of another unit. The Brentwood Bay auxiliary steam power plant was the latest to be constructed, to be used in case of an emergency such as now presents itself to the company. It can develop 6,000 horse power.

From the standpoint of the city the effect will not be as extensive as might appear at first sight. The supply of water which the city has received from Goldstream through the agreement with the Esquimalt Waterworks Company is the surplus of that which has been available from the service to the British Columbia Electric railway; and

ACCIDENT NOT WANTED.

Should an accident put the transmission lines from Jordan River to Brentwood Bay power houses out of commission the city will be without power and light, and the city plant for street lighting will be shut down.

der the agreement between the British Columbia Electric railway and the Esquimalt Waterworks Company.

At the present time the city is taking only about three million gallons a day through the temporary connection, in place of four and three-quarter millions used in the city only a few weeks ago, and there is not expected to be any interruption to the service. Such is the opinion advanced by the city engineering department this morning.

There have been but two occasions on which there has been an interruption of the service since the city commenced to buy water from Goldstream. With the lighting system, however, matters are somewhat different, as a failure of the Jordan river or Brentwood plants would put the street lighting system out of commission.

The street station now is engaged exclusively in distributing the power derived from the power plants of the British Columbia Electric railway at various points, but so long as the electric current is coming into the city the street system will not be affected. Should an accident occur to cut off the power then the transformers will be idle, and the city will be in darkness.

City Electrician Hutchison said this morning that the plant had not yet been affected, but it would be if anything happened to cut off power from the Jordan river and Brentwood Bay plants.

SEIZE TWELVE IN RAID

Night Visit of Police Brings Chinamen to Court; All Are Fined.

Twelve Chinamen were captured in a raid on an opium joint in the early hours of this morning at 59 Piquard street. Detective Siciliano, Acting Sergeant Ireland and two constables had a difficult task to effect an entry, the back door being locked and barricaded with a two-by-four inch piece of scantling. After this barrier had been cleared away two other obstacles had to be surmounted before the raid could be completed. In three rooms connected by a long corridor were the smokers, with a complete outfit of the drug, lamps, pipes and all the accessories for the enjoyment of the habit. The men were lying about in their bunks and on the floor, but on hearing the noise of the police below they jumped to their feet and as the police entered with exclamations of "break out."

Lamps were broken in the rush to the windows, and one man leaped out from the narrow ledge which serves as a verandah to the Chinese houses, while Officer Ireland caught another by the legs and prevented his escape. In all twelve were seized and brought up to the police station.

Their names were said in police court this morning when the paraphernalia was exhibited, and each was sentenced to a fine of $5 and $1 costs or one month, except Fook Yee and Sing, who had appeared before on similar charges. They were fined $35 and $1 costs, with the option of two months' imprisonment.

The sale of liquor to a minor, John Temple, licensee of the Canada hotel, was fined $5. A. S. Dumbleton defended. The evidence for the prosecution had been taken at an earlier hearing.

George Martin was fined $5 for obstruction of a constable in the discharge of his duty, having interfered with the arrest of Thomas Holt by Officer Elliott.

Captain F. S. Brereton is Now in City For Short Stay—Was Surgeon in R. A. M. C.

Rival of Henty and Manville Fenn, soldier and surgeon, carpenter and motorist, Captain Frederick Sadler Brereton, now in this city, is a veritable man of all work, though to the great majority of folk he is known alone for his "hazy" stories which are read in whatever country the English language is spoken. Among his publications may be mentioned the well known titles, With Shield and Assega; A Gallant Grenadier; The Dragon of Pekin; In the King's Service; Poes of the Red Cockade; A Knight of St. John; A Soldier of Japan, etc. Many of his books have been written from his experiences in actual warfare. He served in several campaigns and was right through the South African war.

Captain Brereton commenced to write in 1905. He was born in 1872, the son of a well known soldier, and was educated at Cranleigh. His medical training he received for the most part in the famous Guy's hospital, London, and later he was gazetted as surgeon lieutenant of the army medical staff. He obtained first place in competitive entrance examination and won the Martin gold medal for medicine and the Parke's medal for hygiene at Netley. He served with the Scots Guards until he retired to write the books which have made his name.

Captain Brereton will remain in Victoria for a few days. He is staying at the Empress hotel.

TAKING OF EVIDENCE IS NOW UNDER WAY

All Technicalities in Bankers' Trust Case Disposed of; Crown's Case Limited

All preliminary technicalities having been disposed of, the taking of evidence in the conspiracy charge against F. C. Cook and J. O. Hearn began at 2.30 this afternoon, when the register of joint stock companies was put in the box. This morning's session of the Assize court was devoted to argument on a motion by George E. Powell in behalf of both accused for particulars of the charge, to the selection of a jury, and to the crown prosecutor's opening address.

When court opened Mr. Justice Gregory announced that he had considered the motion by the defence, to which the crown had assented, and decided that the various clauses all bore on one offence, and were therefore admissible in the one indictment. Precedent for adding an overt act he found in the famous Connolly case, cited the previous afternoon by Mr. Robertson.

Mr. Alkman it was who moved to quash the indictment yesterday afternoon, alleging that the whole indictment was bad because in certain counts it charged three men, in the last one, two men and in the last one Cook alone. This amounted to charging different persons with different acts of conspiracy. He maintained that either one or all must be accused in all the counts. He further objected to the indictment because he argued that in the first count two offences were charged, one a general conspiracy, and the other the obtaining of the property of Robert Hetherington by false pretences. This latter he held was a different crime, and the effect of the various phases of the indictment was to make the charges so broad and so various that it would be most difficult during the trial to distinguish to which charge any bit of evidence applied, and what evidence was not admissible at all. He said there was a lot of stuff in the deposition not relevant to the charge, and he wanted to know what the limits of evidence were.

Mr. Robertson argued that the Hetherington clause was merely an example of an overt act indicating conspiracy, and did not introduce a new offence. Mr. Robertson further said that the indictment was modelled on the famous Connolly conspiracy case in Ontario. He said that the object of charging different numbers of accused in different counts was so that if he failed to convict all he could still convict one. There was only one conspiracy referred to, however.

Motion For Particulars Dismissed—The effect of Mr. Powell's motion for particulars this morning was that Mr. Justice Gregory ruled that when the defence objected to any evidence as being irrelevant, the crown would be compelled to show that it was in the deposition. Mr. Powell explained that he had written on Wednesday asking Mr. Robertson for particulars of the conspiracy, of the names of the persons to whom false representations were made, of what false representations were made, and of what false pretences were employed in getting Mr. Hetherington to part with his property.

The particulars forthcoming had been inadequate he said. They were merely a list of representations bearing on the evidence alleged to have been paid by the Bankers' Trust Corporation, the value of its assets, the names of shareholders, etc. No mention was there of the Hetherington case, and he maintained that there should be particulars in respect of every count. Mr. Robertson argued that the deposition contained all the rest.

Mr. Justice Gregory then ruled that he would be bound by the deposition and the letter, if he did not desire to give a list of particulars, which he thought would be much more satisfactory. This arrangement was accepted, and the jury was empanelled. The entire stock of challenges was exhausted by crown and defence, and the last juror called was finally accepted.

When called upon to answer to the charges the accused announced that they declined to plead, and his lordship directed the entering of a plea of not guilty in the record.

In his address Mr. Robertson asked the jury to infer from the evidence of certain false representations being made by men in touch with Cook and Hearn that they were acting under instructions of the accused.

PERSIAN DESCRIBES

HIS NATIVE LAND

A. E. Kochaly Says Opportunities Are Calling for Missionaries; Customs Practiced

There was a large gathering last evening at the First Baptist church to hear the lecture on "The Land of the Lion and the Sun," delivered by A. E. Kochaly, a Persian student at McMaster College, under the auspices of the young people's society of the church.

In defining the meaning of the title of his address, Mr. Kochaly outlined the history of Persia, and told how the empire was founded at a time when the sun was in the Circle of the Lion, one of twelve annual circles which were used by the astronomers of the time to define the sun's position. Therefore, the newly-founded empire chose the lion as its national emblem. Eight centuries ago an unusual circumstance happened in the history of the Persian monarchs. The ruler really loved his wife. Her name was Khurshad, "The Sun," and this he determined, out of his devotion to his bearer, should be placed above the national emblem already established—the lion. This he did, and the emblem has ever since been as that Persian monarch made it—a lion, with the sun above it. Hence "The Land of the Lion and the Sun."

Continuing, the speaker referred to the other poetic names by which his native land was known, and mentioned particularly "The Land of the Roses," which arose from the variety and quantity of these beautiful blooms which flowered there. The climate of Persia was not, he said, as torrid as most people imagined. In the north the temperature in the summer did not exceed ninety or ninety-five degrees, in the south, however, the temperature registering often 110 degrees in the shade. In that part of the country there was never any snow, but in the northwest severe winters, with deep snow, were regular events. There were high mountains, the highest in the kingdom being 22,000 feet, while a number of peaks ranging in altitude between 11,000 and 14,000 were also snow-covered throughout the year. From these snows the country received its water supply for irrigation purposes, and it was in the foothills that the bigger cities and greater industry was to be found.

The people were made up of almost as cosmopolitan a collection as the peoples of America: Assyrians, Turks, Armenians, Chaldeans, Jews and Nestorians. There were two big class divisions—the very rich and the very poor. In the homes of the former there was little distinction which could set them apart, as far as furnishing was concerned, from the modern occidental home, gramophones, sewing-machines, pianos, etc., being quite generally found. On the other hand the very poor lived in the most primitive sort of dwellings and used the most antiquated utensils for cooking and carrying on their household offices. In the more primitive villages the houses were made of clay, and were but one story in height, the dwellings being squeezed close together, and absolute flat roofed, so that the villagers could walk from one end of the village to the other without leaving the house-tops. These flat roofs also served as sleeping-places in the summer. The rich men's houses were built of stone or sun-baked bricks, and had all manner of luxurious furnishings. Some of these potentates owned from 200 to 300 towns, a type of landlordism which repaid them richly although their tenants might be but paupers.

Kings of Persia. From the time of Cyrus until to-day there had been many kings in Persia, and almost all of these had been absolute monarchs. Ten years ago, however, the Persians suddenly turned the order of things, and succeeded in changing the government into a constitutional monarchy, with the result that the country was to-day enjoying a greater religious liberty than ever before. This was the missionary's chance to get in and work among the Mohammedans. Politically the country could not be strong until it became independent of the outside powers. Education was practically nonexistent. Among the Mohammedans only about one per cent. of either men or women received schooling of any kind. Mission schools had been established some time ago for the Nestorians, and to these the Mohammedans were now coming in small numbers. But in proportion to the enormous population of the country the missionary effort was very small—a mere grain in the desert. The Presbyterian church had its missions, there were also Baptists, Lutherans, Anglicans, Roman Catholics, Russian Greeks and, in isolated cases, Salvation Army and Methodist missions.

The facilities for travelling were still very primitive, this being mostly accomplished by caravan. In the whole of North Persia there were only about eight miles of railway. The prejudice against education was almost general. Even among the wealthiest there was a pronounced objection to the education of the daughters. Teachers were found for these, but they would be old men who could hardly see, and who, when they were taken to teach their pupil, would sit at a respectful distance from the young lady, who, accompanied by a sufficiently formidable chaperone, and with her face veiled, would be given some reading from the Koran, the religious book of Persia, and little else for her day's task. The men were given wider opportunities. Some went to Europe to study. In Persia itself there was but one government school, this having been established by the father of the deposed shah, who, on his return from a visit to Europe, where he was much impressed with the educational institutions, established "The House of Science," at Teheran. This, however, was only open to the sons of the wealthiest families.

Marriage Customs. Marriage in Persia was a religious rite. The contracting parties had to appear before a priest, and the bridegroom pledged a certain amount of money to the wife, which, in the event of his being dissatisfied with his choice, he was to return to her before sending her back to her people. The wife, on the other hand, had a measure of freedom, as in the event of the husband not finding favor in her eyes she was at liberty to go to him and say, "I will make my kabin (the money pledged her) legitimate to you and leave my soul free." With that she might leave his house, either to remarry or to return to her people. The marriage was by nature of a legal contract of which the priest was the notary, and by mutual agreement the husband and wife could make their own divorce simply by destroying their marriage papers. All the preliminaries to marriage were arranged by the relatives of the betrothed, as, owing to their ignorance of writing, and to the fact that girls were often betrothed between the ages of 7 and 12, the affianced knew nothing about each other.

Christian marriages, and there were such, were more binding. So binding, in fact, that divorce could be only obtained on the ground of unfaithfulness. Even then neither man nor woman could remarry until the other died. In connection with the story of the zensana life, Mr. Kochaly pointed out the ignominious position of woman in Persia, and the shame which attached to the birth of a girl child. From the cradle up they were neglected to the advantage of their brothers, even though, in many cases, the mothers were as passionately devoted to them as to their sons.

Despite all these things, however, Persia had in the course of her history produced some great poets, artists, and men like Sadie, Hadz, and Omar Khayyam, whose names were known wherever men studied science, literature, and philosophy.

In conclusion the speaker outlined his motive in lecturing about his native land, and once more expressed his intention of returning there next year to take up mission work in the north-east of Persia. A collection was taken, and the announcement made that Mr. Kochaly would lecture this evening at the Tabernacle Baptist church.

ALLOWS WITHDRAWAL

City Council by Majority Vote Has Andrew Wright Continue as Director of Jubilee Hospital.

By a majority vote of one, the city council last evening decided to allow Andrew Wright, one of the city's representatives on the board of directors of the Jubilee hospital, to withdraw his resignation, which was handed in after the plans had been considered. Alderman Gleason moved and Alderman Porter seconded a proposal to allow him to withdraw the resignation. Alderman Fullerton at once related the objection that the passage of that proposal would apparently endorse the reasons for which Mr. Wright had resigned, and with that he could not agree. Ald. McNeill agreed that the council could not withdraw from the principle taken up at the previous meeting. Alderman Cuthbert supported the two last speakers, and moved an amendment to the motion not to accept the withdrawal unless it was understood that the council did not alter its policy on the matter. Alderman Hunter seconded. On division the resolution was carried by five to four votes.

HOST OF OBJECTIONS RAISED BY DEFENCE

Bankers' Trust Men Won Motion for Election, Then Said Judgment Illegal

ATTORNEY-GENERAL SAID MUST BE JURY TRIAL

County Judge Waded Through Technicalities; Night Closed Arguments

"Under which judge?" might be the title of the fascinating story of the experiences yesterday of Franklin C. Cook and J. O. Hearn, the two former officials of the now insolvent Bankers' Trust Corporation, in connection with the flotation of which they stand charged with conspiracy. Not much else seemed clear last night, however, after evening brought a temporary end to the legal objections of George E. Powell and J. A. Alkman to the proceedings of the sheriff, the prosecution and the court.

After obtaining an order from Mr. Justice Gregory in the assizes that they were entitled to elect before Judge Lampman, they went before that judge and argued that their position before him was an anomalous one. He heard their election and when they returned to the assize court the defence once again argued that the indictment now against them could not be used for their trial. Upon losing this argument they again moved to quash the indictment as being so cumbersome that it would confuse the jury to follow the evidence. On this point Mr. Justice Gregory decided to adjourn over night.

The proceedings yesterday were followed with the keenest interest by almost all the Victoria lawyers who practice in criminal courts.

The resumption of court after the noon adjournment yesterday found Crown Prosecutor Robertson prepared to meet Mr. Powell's argument that the indictment should be quashed as the accused had not been given the right to elect.

Mr. Robertson's argument was followed by the Attorney-General, who claimed was dated to-day, and had been obtained since noon. Judge Lampman decided to ignore the numerous objections raised by counsel, and read the charge to the accused, who through Mr. Alkman elected for speedy trial. Mr. Robertson read the Attorney-General's order for jury trial, and his honor sent them back to the assizes. A written order was obtained by the defence, and then objected to as it read "In the Supreme Court." This was the county court they maintained. Mr. Robertson argued that they were committed to the Supreme court, but his honor said he had no doubt it was the right case, and that was all that concerned him.

It was an hour instead of a half hour that was consumed in this proceeding, and as soon as Mr. Justice Gregory took the bench Mr. Alkman began to argue that the indictment was null and void. "But how can we go to the county judge to elect when we have an indictment hanging over our heads?" asked Mr. Powell.

"Oh, now you want me to quash the indictment. I won't do that," said Mr. Justice Gregory.

Mr. Powell pointed out a subsection in the section Mr. Robertson had been arguing from which said that so far as election was concerned a man under bail was in the same position as a man in custody, and his lordship directed the half hour's adjournment.

Before Judge Lampman the sheriff produced J. O. Hearn and F. C. Cook. His honor read the commitment and asked where was the third accused. He doubted if any proceeding of the court could be held without the presence of all the accused.

"Your honor," said Mr. Alkman, "we must insist upon the crown producing the three men. When three men are charged jointly with conspiracy and committed together the sheriff must produce the three men before asking two of them to elect."

Mr. Robertson recited the facts to the court explaining that he had entered a stay of proceedings against O'Connor, who was now not in custody. He further stated that this election was merely a form—as he had a written request from the Attorney-General that his honor would direct a jury trial.

"It is not fair to ask us to elect after that letter has been read," declared Mr. Alkman. "We take the position that the judgment of Mr. Justice Gregory is sending us down here without quashing the indictment is illegal. The Attorney-General has directed that we must have a jury trial. It is no use for us to elect."

"This is not the time for us to consider the Attorney-General's letter," said Mr. Powell. "His wishes do not concern the court unless we elect for speedy trial. But how can your honor put that election to us when there is an indictment already against us in one of the courts between which we elect?"

"I don't know anything about any indictment," the crown has informed you of it and your honor must take cognizance of what the crown tells you," replied

Mr. Powell. "This is a very delicate point. Can you take our election?"

"I should be very loth to do so, but Mr. Justice Gregory has sent you here for that purpose," stated the judge.

"Well, your honor," interposed Mr. Powell, "we decided that we had the right to elect, but we maintain that you can't hear this election. There is an insuperable obstacle of an indictment between us. This is a new problem, and I think we had better adjourn until to-morrow morning to get light upon it."

"Yes, I favor the adjournment, too," said Mr. Alkman. "The crown has placed us in a very awkward position here producing only two accused when three are charged."

Mr. Robertson opposed the adjournment. They were there to elect. Did they want to elect or not? he inquired. "We can't," said Mr. Alkman. "You say we must take a jury trial. If we had known you were going to produce any document like that—"

"I got my instructions months ago, and told Mr. Higgins that he had to take a jury trial," retorted the crown.

Mr. Powell then asked to see the letter of the Attorney-General, which he claimed was dated to-day, and had been obtained since noon.

Judge Lampman decided to ignore the numerous objections raised by counsel, and read the charge to the accused, who through Mr. Alkman elected for speedy trial. Mr. Robertson read the Attorney-General's order for jury trial, and his honor sent them back to the assizes. A written order was obtained by the defence, and then objected to as it read "In the Supreme Court." This was the county court they maintained. Mr. Robertson argued that they were committed to the Supreme court, but his honor said he had no doubt it was the right case, and that was all that concerned him.

It was an hour instead of a half hour that was consumed in this proceeding, and as soon as Mr. Justice Gregory took the bench Mr. Alkman began to argue that the indictment

Cures Without Drugs

Wonderful Invention Restores Health by Nature's Method

There's no need of ruining your stomach by dishing it with drugs, trying to overcome pain or some chronic ailment. No need of doctor and drug bills, for here is a remedy that cures Nature's way.

Most of the ailments of mankind are due to the failure or breaking down of the stomach, kidneys, liver, heart or digestive organs. When one of these organs fails to work properly, something happens, pain, disease or various chronic ailments result.

The reason any organ breaks down or fails to work properly is because it lacks motive power—electricity. That is proven. Now to cure pain or disease you must find the cause and remove it. If it is caused by a lack of electric energy, restore that force where it is needed and pain and sickness will disappear. That's my method. That's Nature's method. Electricity builds up—supplies strength nourishment to the body. Drugs destroy, tear down—because they contain poison instead of nourishment. Of course, they can force an organ to act, but that organ is weaker after the effect of the drug has passed off. Drugs stop pain temporarily by stupefying the nerves, but the pain comes back and you have to take the drug again. Every dose weakens the nerves.

"But not before the accused come into court," contended Mr. Alkman. "The indictment cannot be laid before the men have appeared, and they can't appear until they elect."

The merits of the procedure in putting the men on their election after the opening of the trial were then gone into, and his lordship ruled against the defence, their objection being noted by the clerk.
